HOW TO AID LITERATE NATION

Principal of Oak Bay School Talks to Gyros

In the course of an address before the Gyro Club at its luncheon today, Mr. H. P. Johnson, Principal of the Oak Bay High School, gave an insight into High School education, and pointed out to the club where its assistance might be of great value.

Mr. Johnson said that the high schools were trying to train the scholars, morally, physically and intellectually. In helping the scholars morally, Mr. Johnson said that they must protect the students from moral contamination. The Gyros by their examples might help the pupils to grow up "honest, clean upstanding young men. Physically they might encourage the scholars in games, and teach them to play clean. He regretted that in so many cases the grown-ups did not play the game clean. Intellectually he intimated the club might assist by awarding a scholarship to the boys who lead this district in the senior matriculation.

"All the objects lead in the same direction, and if you have a moral coward you are going to have a physical coward," he said.

Mr. Johnson said that the aim of the country was to have a literate nation. Just how far the country was prepared to pay for this, however, rested entirely with the taxpayers. The speaker thought that the students should be carried through the High Schools, provided there was no abuse of the privilege in the nature of lazy students. It is necessary to tax students he thought that the tax should rest upon the backward children. It was a point the taxpayer might consider, he said.

Mr. Johnson told of the difficulties to be encountered in getting good teachers now. "Education lies entirely in the personalities of the teachers," stated Mr. Johnson. He went on to explain that a good teacher was one who was in sympathy with the young men he taught, which enabled him to overcome the discipline difficulties.

Mr. Johnson said that the trouble with the High Schools to-day was that the teachers were not as good as they should be. Mr. Johnson held out the belief that the parents would help their children to set their eyes on some objective. "If the incentive to work and study is there the child will succeed," he said.

GREAT FUTURE FOR GAS CARS

Should Be Employed on Island and Roads, Chamber Is Told

A neutral vision of the possibilities of the operation of gas cars similar to that placed in service on the Victoria-Sooke line of the Canadian National Railway over the whole railway system of Vancouver Island was pictured to-day by C. P. W. Schwengers at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon at Spencer's.

"Very little merchandise would be distributed on Vancouver Island except from Victoria if a system of that kind could be instituted over the rails of the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway system. There are wonderful possibilities in this plan if developed," said Mr. Schwengers, who pointed out that the gas-drawn cars could travel comfortably at sixty miles. The cost of operation would be five cents a mile, and a car could be run from Victoria to Comox or Alberni for seven cents, and the trip made in three or four hours.

W. J. Johnson, chairman of the committee of the Chamber, which has been pressing for the inauguration of a gas-car service between Victoria and Sooke, was congratulated on the result of his committee's activities.

Mr. Johnson reported on the initial trip over the Sooke service, the schedule of which provides for two trains daily leaving Victoria at 8 o'clock in the morning and 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

The trains will leave Sooke at 9.35 o'clock in the morning and 6.35 in the afternoon.

The car will accommodate about forty people, and their is a compartment for baggage. The overhead is small, as one man is required to operate the car.

Political Broadcastings

Carew Martin, lawyer of this city, and son of Mr. Justice Martin of the Court of Appeal, will be the new clerk of the British Columbia Legislature, according to reports at the Parliament Buildings to-day.

He will take the place of John Keen, who died at Kasia early this year.

Henry C. Hall, K.C., had first refusal of the post, but Mr. Hall turned it down, because it would interfere with his legal practice.

Announcement of appointments to the legislative staff at the Legislature will be made at the end of this week, according to the Hon. J. D. MacLean, Provincial Secretary. Applications for legislative posts have been in for some time. A new sergeant-at-arms will have to be appointed.

The straw ballot on liquor control in B. C. taken by Farm and Home of Vancouver, a section of the provincial circulation in all rural parts of the Province, shows only 170 persons out of 2,940 who voted in favor of the present liquor act. There were 1,675 who voted for the sale of beer and light wines in restaurants and hotels and 1,995 who voted for prohibition.

The straw vote taken by a Vancouver daily newspaper last week went this way: For prohibition, 1,087.

"NO SMOKING" AT ARTS COLLEGE

Following the example set by the University of British Columbia, the Victoria College Students' Council has decided that there shall be no tobacco used in the precincts of the institution. Students have been asked to conform to the request of the Council, and if they are found violating the discipline of their own laws, the matter will become a serious offence in the eyes of the Faculty.

Up to this time the men's common room has been a place of leisure and enjoyment between the lectures, where individuals might enjoy tobacco if they felt so inclined.

MARCHANT'S VIEWS ON TAXES FOR TORONTO

Mayor William Marchant's views on single tax and Victoria's tax situation will be published by the Bureau of Municipal Research, Toronto, to guide Toronto electors in voting on the single tax system, it was announced to-day.

The Mayor's views are outlined in a lengthy letter which he wrote at the request of the bureau directors and the publication of which he has authorized. In this letter the Mayor denies the popular assertion that Victoria was a single tax city up to this year, and says he is an unhesitating opponent of the present improvement tax. A majority of the people, he asserts, are opposed to the improvement tax.

He attributes the city's present position not to the policy of exempting improvements from taxation but to an "orgy of expenditure" during the boom years and to the Council's too frequent use of its borrowing power. To curb this borrowing the Mayor suggests the creation of a Local Government Board.

CHAMBER ADOPTS PILOTAGE REPORT

Will Not Act Till Source of Amalgamation Plan Discovered

On the recommendation of the pilotage committee, the Chamber of Commerce will take no stand until it learns from what source the proposal to amalgamate the existing pilotage organizations originated, it was decided at to-day's meeting of the directors.

The committee comprised of Captain E. Kelly, chairman, and Messrs. W. M. Allan, William Dale, J. H. Davidson and Captain Harbord, reads: Gentlemen:—I beg to report that the committee have perused the Chamber of Commerce correspondence respecting pilotage.

For many years southern British Columbia waters were divided into three pilotage districts and with the object of reducing the cost of pilotage services to ship owners, the Dominion Government, about three years ago, effected an amalgamation of the three districts and placed the service under an official of the Department of Marine, the payment of pilotage continuing to be compulsory.

It seems that some insupportable disagreement followed, for after a brief interval, the Government passed an Order-in-Council making pilotage in southern British Columbia waters optional and leaving it to the pilots themselves to provide the service, unhampered by any control.

The committee have never since heard any complaint, and they are under the impression that pilotage affairs are running quite smoothly and are satisfactory.

The Deputy Minister of Marine, A. Johnston, visited Victoria recently and, on being interviewed by the press in regard to pilotage, since his department no longer had charge, is reported to have stated: "The ship operators express themselves as satisfied. The existing system is the best."

We recommend, therefore, that the Chamber of Commerce, before becoming a party to any change should ascertain the source from which such a proposal originates, the nature of any existing complaints and finally be guided by joint representation from the pilots and the ship operators.

MODERN OFFICE BUILDINGS ARE BEING ERECTED IN LONDON

London, Oct. 16.—Nearing completion on the crest of Tower Hill, its own tower rivaling in height the dome of St. Paul's, is the most impressive, the most palatial the best lighted and probably the most conveniently arranged group of business buildings ever erected in London.

It is the new palace of the Port of London Authority, the future home of the administration and staff that control all the docks, the wharves and the commercial life of the Thames. The buildings cost $10,000,000, and are acclaimed by architects as one of the structural treasures of London.

and rich in sculptural reliefs, it is a building of five stories. Each of the four sides faces directly a cardinal point of the compass. There is a frontal portico supported by corinthian columns carried up through three stories.

Surrounding the portico is a substantial pyramidal tower in the front niche of which is a great figure of Father Thames, and at the sides are emblematic figures of Commerce and Navigation.

Perhaps the most striking internal feature is a central rotunda 110 feet in diameter, with a glass dome.

ENGLISH TRIBUTE TO RAILWAY CHIEF

Sir Henry Thornton Has Record for Efficiency

London, Oct. 16.—The English newspapers are saying that Brigadier-General Sir Henry W. Thornton, who is leaving the Great Eastern Railway to take charge of the Canadian system, registered one great achievement in England in that he organized the most efficient system for handling the most enormous suburban passenger traffic under steam that passes in and out of any depot in the world.

It was planned that when General Thornton came to England in 1914, from the United States, where he was general manager of the Long Island Railway, that the Great Eastern suburban traffic would be electrified, but the war and its consequent financial strain upon the railroads rendered that impossible.

The papers are also recalling the frank admissions by the directors of the Great Eastern, when General Thornton was imported in face of much opposition, that the English railways were lacking in men capable of dealing with great problems. The explanation is given here that England is such a small country that her railway men can gain no experience in handling great systems such as a big continent affords.

The new scheme of organizing the English roads into four groups is about to be started, and with its beginning goes the foremost figure in the railway world when Lord Claud Hamilton passes into retirement. He is 59 years of age.

CATTLE EMBARGO CONFERENCE HELD

Lifting of British Regulation Discussed by Ministers in London

London, Oct. 16.—General discussion took place at a conference at the Colonial Office on Saturday on the principles involved in drafting legislation required to give effect to the lifting of the embargo against Canadian store cattle. Several technical questions were referred to experts representing Great Britain and Canada, whose conclusions will be submitted to a conference on Wednesday next.

Rt. Hon. Winston Spencer Churchill, Colonial Secretary, presided. Others in attendance were the British Minister of Agriculture, Sir Arthur Griffith Boscawen, and two Canadian Ministers, Hon. W. S. Fielding and Hon. Ernest Lapointe, as well as Hon. P. C. Larkin, Canadian High Commissioner.

LONDON'S FAMOUS CAFE ROYAL TO BE DEMOLISHED

London, Oct. 16.—The Cafe Royal, London's ancient and most famous Bohemian resort, soon is to disappear. It is planned to tear it down and erect in its place a modern building of luxurious appointments.

The announcement of demolition has brought forth a flood of letters protesting against such a plan, largely from literary and professional men and women, and from artists, boxers, singers and diplomats.

For more than forty years the establishment has been the centre of the cosmopolitan life of the city. The international fame of the Cafe Royal brought a fortune to its owner, Daniel Nicolas De Nicol, who left more than $5,000,000 when he died in 1897.

The Government is seeking support for a bill under which no importer would be allowed to bring products into Denmark from any other country without at the same time placing orders for an equal quantity of goods with Danish manufacturers.

AMALGAMATION OF AERIAL FORCES

First Step Noted in Removal of Recruiting Office at Vancouver

Vancouver, Oct. 16.—The first step towards amalgamation of the Air Board and the Canadian Air Force in British Columbia will be taken in about a month, when the recruiting office of the Air Force in the Standard Bank Building will be removed to the air station at Jericho Beach.

This step is being taken in accordance with the decision of the Federal Parliament at the recent session to combine all flying in Canada under the Department of Militia and Defense, and to disband the Air Board, which would henceforward be operated by Canadian Air Force officials.

Captain G. M. Dean, secretary of the Canadian Air Force here, is resigning his post, and will turn over the records of his office here to officials at the Jericho Station. Although serving actively with the C. A. F., he would continue to take an interest in the development of flying in British Columbia, he stated last night.

When the Canadian Air Force was formed at the termination of the Great War, many former R. F. C. men joined the C. A. F. and to carry on recruiting in Vancouver an office was established in June, 1920, with Captain Dean as secretary and recruiting officer. Since then 130 men and 90 officers have been recruited for duty at Camp Borden through the Vancouver office, and it has been stated that on their return to Vancouver, these men were missionaries for the development of flying in this province.

Although the question of establishing a flying school in connection with the Jericho Station has been mooted, no announcement has been made by authorities at Ottawa with regard to this scheme.

PROGRESSIVES TO DETERMINE POLICY FOR COMING SESSION

Winnipeg, Oct. 16.—There is substantial ground for the report that some time before the coming session of the Progressive Party, when the general policy of the party during the forthcoming session will be discussed at a special article in The Toronto Star, republished here by The Manitoba Free Press. The dispatch continues:

"The Progressive Party, which probably will discuss the matter of ratification, but Mr. Creer, it is believed, primarily called it to discuss his own position as leader of the Progressive Party. If his followers find themselves confronted with the necessity of choosing a new leader, the choice would probably fall upon R. A. Hoey (Springfield) or Captain J. T. Shaw (West Calgary), but there would be a strong body of them favoring Mr. McManis, who by the way, was discharged from the party last session had become more a Progressive than a Liberal."

When advised of the Toronto report, his office here, Mr. Creer refused to discuss the matter.

BELL ATTACKS LIQUOR CONTROL

Local Delegate to Methodist Conference Flays System

Toronto, Oct. 16.—The closing session of the Methodist Conference on Saturday night was featured by an attack by a lay delegate, George Bell, of Victoria, B. C., on government liquor control. He declared that he had in his province. He declared that the amount of drinking under the present system was practically equal to the days of the open bar.

The amount of bootlegging in British Columbia was appalling and the evils spread thereby had already broken the heart of one Attorney-General and was disheartening another, he said. The profits accruing to the province from the sale under government control had been enormous. More than $7,000 a day was going into the treasury of British Columbia. The speaker, therefore, warned the Conference not to allow the spread of government control into the other provinces, as he felt it secured a foothold, the enormous profits it yielded provincial treasuries was such a temptation such as to make a return of the prohibitory laws very difficult of attainment.

ESCAPED CONVICT TAKEN AT ROSTHERN

Saskatoon, Oct. 16.—The recapture of an escaped convict at Rosthern, Sask., appears to be the only foundation for rumors that a Canadian National Railway agent at Rosetown had been held up and killed on Saturday afternoon. The rumors, which were widespread in both Saskatoon and Prince Albert, gave the scene of the crime variously at Rosetown and Rosthern. Inquiries were made from Saskatoon by long distance telephone but nothing was known of any such incident.

On Sunday, however, Inspector Tait of the Provincial Police force at Prince Albert, reported that Nelson Dillon, a convict who had escaped from the penitentiary on Thursday afternoon, had been caught in a box car at Rosthern on Saturday afternoon. The inspector suggested that this was the origin of the other side of the story.

Dillon, who had still about six months of a four-year sentence to serve for burglary and theft, was taken back to the penitentiary on Thursday night. He had been formerly in Edmonton penitentiary and had been transferred later to Prince Albert.

The boy's father is Charles Lafayette, a fire-boss in the employ of the Western Fuel Company here.

NOT FOREWARNED ABOUT REPORT

C.P.R. Official Denies Rumor Regarding Board's Wage Award

Montreal, Oct. 16.—A press dispatch from Calgary crediting to the secretary of the federated railway shop trades there a statement to the effect that the Canadian Pacific and certain other railways had knowledge of the conciliation board's recent award some days before it was filed with the Department of Labor and in consequence thereof had paid the reduced rate of wages as set by the conciliation board prior to the announcement of the award by the Department of Labor, was today brought to the attention of George Hodge, Assistant General Manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Lines, who conducted the case for the railways before the board of conciliation and investigation. Mr. Hodge denied most emphatically the correctness of the statement. He said further that as far as the Canadian Pacific Railway was concerned it had no knowledge of the report until it was received at the company's office on September 4 and that instructions to restore rates of pay which had previously been put into effect as from July 15 were issued under date of September 5, making the reduced rates effective as from August 15.

AIR CLASSIC WON BY LIEUT. MAUGHAN

Mount Clemens, Oct. 16.—Lieut. R. Maughan, flying an army Curtiss plane, won the Pulitzer trophy race, the annual air classic of America, his speed of 200 miles an hour over the 150 mile course not being duplicated by any flyer in the final flight of the contest. The race run in three flights because of the large number of entries completed without accident. All world records, official and unofficial, were broken for 50, 100 to 200 kilometer courses during the flights.

Lieut. L. J. Maitland, another army aviator who flew a sister ship to Maughan's was second. Maitland made the fastest time for any one lap, traveling at a speed of 215 dot 10 miles an hour. He made an average of 207 dot 3 miles an hour for 100 kilometers.

3,000 GALLONS MILK A YEAR NEW RECORD OF CHAMPION COW

London, Oct. 16.—There are 56 cows in Great Britain which have given 3,000 gallons of milk in a year. Two are Dairy Shorthorns. One an Ayrshire, one a Red Poll, and the rest British Friesians.

Now a phenomenal British Friesian gives every promise of being the first 3,000 gallons cow on record. This is Brookside Colantha, belonging to the Hache herd, Worthing, Sussex. In 284 days Colantha has produced 2,615 gallons and she is still giving 8 gallons a day.

The cow has a remarkable record. She is 8 years old and has had 5 calves. In her whole milking career she has yielded 9,045 gallons, or about 90,450 lbs.—something like 50 times her own weight.

In 1919 there was only one 2,000 gallons cow, a British Friesian, in this country. Of the 56 which now exist, 1 have exceeded 2,500 gallons in the year.

A CHANGED MAN

An important personage from a small northern town had some dress clothes made by a west end tailor during a visit to London.

He wore them at a municipal gathering on his return home, and complained to a friend of the way the London tailor had done the job. "What's wrong with the clothes?" asked his friend.

"Too small," said the great man.

"Far too small!" said the other, grinning. "You should 'ave remembered you're not such a big man in London as you are up here."

FREE THINKERS IN RUSSIA THREATENED WITH BANISHMENT

Exile Faces Intellectuals Under Soviet Regime

Moscow, Oct. 16.—The Soviet Government's recent action in exiling abroad or to Northern Russia many educators, publicists and professional men who were unable to reconcile themselves to the Soviet regime, came like a bolt out of the blue and has left thousands of others of the "intelligentsia" wondering if their turn will come next.

For many months, since the development of free trade and the recreation of a class of rich speculators, it has been evident both to opponents of the government and to the communists themselves, that thousands of Russians were beginning to forget they were in the hands of a proletarian dictatorship, and were beginning to become as "bourgeois" as ever.

Thinking that the new freedom of trade might mean freedom of politics also, scores of college professors and some organizations of professional men began to talk, write and think freely again. The more timid did this secretly, while some plucked up enough courage to lampoon the government's activities openly in pamphlets and in the class room. One group of college professors even dared to strike—and strikes usually bring prompt punishment in Russia.

Premier Lenin openly announced, last Spring, that the retreat toward capitalism had reached its limits, and both the Geona and Hague conferences established that the Soviet Government was standing pat on the main principles of the proletarian dictatorship, even if it was inclined to make individual concessions to capitalists or foreign governments here and there.

Within Russia, however, such leeway continued to be allowed to speculators. Gambling casinos were opened, racing flourished, and so many new commercial undertakings were launched that very few Russians realized that the communist party had determined absolutely that the pendulum, having swung so far to the right, now had to be swung back to the left until the Soviet clock kept proper Bolshevik time.

Communists explain that so long as efforts of individuals, however profitable to themselves, continue to be immediately or potentially advantageous to the government in its support of those reconstructing Russia, these individuals are to be given wide scope in freedom from interference. But when the work of the individual does not fit into this general scheme, or when an individual works against the government, then his activities are to be cut short and the offender punished.

The recent decrees of exile, say the newspaper Pravda, are only the first warnings to the intellectuals who remain. The Soviet Government will, as in the past, value highly the support of those representatives of the old "intelligentsia" who will loyally work with the government, as the better part of the specialists do now, but it will, as before, root out every attempt to utilize the legal possibilities for an open or secret struggle against the government and for the restoration of a "bourgeois regime."

"There is no hope for a return to the past," The Pravda warns.

SUCCESSFUL BALL HELD AT DUNCAN

Duncan, Oct. 14.—The first ball of the season given by the Cowichan Chapter, I.O.O.F., in the Agricultural Hall, Duncan, last evening, proved a great success, and from the number present, dancing bids fair to be as popular as ever this Winter.

The hall was prettily decorated, and the Autumn tints predominating with dogwood, maple and colored leaves and gorgeous paper sunflowers. The emblem of the order was in evidence, and also the chapter's flag. The lights were covered with dainty paper shades in two yellows and gave a most becoming light.

Mrs. Willett's helpers were Mesdames H. A. Patterson, Primrose Wells, J. Moon, F. Parker, P. R. Gooding, C. Marple and Barnett.

The moonlight waiters proved very popular, the spotlight for these being capably managed by Mr. Eric Primrose Wells.

The supper room had been decorated by Mrs. Marlow, Mrs. Swan, Miss Primrose Wells, Mr. C. Green and Mr. E. Primrose Wells in shades of mauve and white and the sumptuous supper arranged by Mrs. E. Stock was much appreciated. Others assisting upon the table were Mrs. L. A. Gibbs, Mrs. H. D. Morten, Mrs. A. J. Marlow, Mrs. H. A. Patterson, Mrs. F. R. Gooding, Mrs. Saxton White, Mrs. B. R. Gooding, Mrs. J. B. Swan, Mrs. W. L. R. Young, Mrs. Moon, Mrs. Fordham Solly, Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Townsend, Mrs. A. E. Green, Mrs. Barnett, Mrs. Heddine K. Duncan, and Misses Hayward, Dove and Primrose Wells.

The Melody Five-dance Orchestra provided excellent music. Mrs. F. G. Christmas, the regent of the chapter, and Mrs. Primrose Wells, the energetic secretary, helped to make the evening a success.

LISBON AROUSED BY POLITICAL MURDERS

Lisbon, Portugal, Oct. 16.—Two recent political assassinations in the streets of this turbulent city. The authorities are accused of failing to afford protection to individuals, and the newspapers are calling upon the Government to do something, else Lisbon will become more and more isolated from the provinces, where already the city is regarded as a dangerous centre of disorder.

The latest crimes took place within three days of each other, and in the heart of the city. Neither victim is expected to live. One was a leading civil revolutionist known under the nickname of "Avante." He is accused of having denounced some of his former comrades who advocated very extreme measures. He was crossing the street at night, near the docks, when an automobile suddenly stopped near him. Two men jumped out, one stabbed him with a dagger, and then both fled in the car.

The other victim is Sergio Principe, a Lisbon merchant, who is accused of forsaking his old ideals in favor of the working classes, and who is said to be to-day the secretary of the Patronal Association, an organization strongly opposed to the syndicates and the unions. Principe also was stabbed while walking on the street in front of his store, and his assailant escaped. Both men had received letters of warning, written in blood, and signed "The Red Legion."

THE MANCHESTER SPEECH.

There are few politicians in Great Britain who understand the people better than Mr. Lloyd George. He knows that he has retained his popularity with them because he has conducted most of his recent public utterances as if the electorate itself composed the only party under his leadership. With the obvious belief that he still retains the confidence of the masses he delivered a speech at Manchester on Saturday which went home in all its fundamental detail. His review of his own attitude and the policy of his Government towards the recent crisis left little to be desired in its actual relation to the pressing events of the last few weeks.

It was a clever speech from beginning to end. If it had been otherwise it would have been a miserable failure because as long as it is possible to satisfy the electors on dangerous and difficult policies, which get the country into trouble, by speeches of defence they must be right from the shoulder and endowed with the touch of the master orator.

On a number of occasions since the election of 1918 Mr. Lloyd George has gone direct to the people with speeches of this kind. On the other hand he has undoubtedly come to the conclusion that the average Briton cannot always be chloroformed by public talk. He knows in this particular instance that his Government could not have taken any other course than that which obviously convinced the Turk that he had better stop short of a test of strength with the one nation which has actually befriended him for more than half a century. None the less the taxpayer will begin to wonder what is responsible for constantly recurring conditions which threaten trouble. He will digest the Prime Minister's speech and classify it as a clever defence in a difficult and complex case. He will admit that peace in the Balkans was preserved because Great Britain was prepared to stick to her guns in respect of certain important considerations. But he will simply examine the whole situation and ask himself what guarantee the country possesses against another international situation that may not be smoothed over without further bloodshed. It is the policy which leads to these uncomfortable developments that will enlist more of his practical interest than a clever defence that is advanced after they have arisen.

From the purely party point of view Mr. Lloyd George scored a complete victory over his critics. How can Mr. Asquith condemn the action of the Government when he would never dream of criticizing the Gladstonian policy? Has he changed his opinions since he subscribed to the demand that the Turk be driven "bag and baggage" out of Europe and forever be kept in subjection in Asia? One has only to remember the old Liberal cry to realize the weakness of criticism from the Asquithian wing.

The Tory die-hards who have suffered themselves to be led by the little Welshman are in a dilemma. They may just as well realize that there is little chance of an old-school Tory Government in Great Britain. The Asquithian Liberal has hopes; but little confidence. The moderate Conservative and the moderate Liberal—the actual Coalition—constitute a working majority judged in terms of unified sentiment and potential support for the present Prime Minister. Labor is the dark horse on the political race track. Will its "sinister" shadow frighten the die-hard Tory and stem the revolt from the Coalition and help to solidify the position of the Government? These are interesting speculations. Outside of them all stand the people. If

Mr. Lloyd George really succeeded with them at Manchester they will be satisfied not to "swap" horses.

THE SOOKE SERVICE.

To-day's inauguration of the Victoria to Sooke service on the Canadian National Railway should mark a new era of progress and development in one of the most beautiful and fertile sections of the Southeastern part of Vancouver Island.

By the accommodation that has been provided it should be possible for townspeople and visitors alike to regard the territory now brought within such simple access as part and parcel of the "show place" that is known far and wide as Victoria. Those who made the trip by the new gasoline car last week must have been impressed by what they saw. From the climatic, agricultural, and scenic points of view it can be said that the whole of the district in question would be difficult to beat.

The more the line is patronized the more profitable it should become for city and district alike.

ARRESTING LEPROSY.

People used to speak of tuberculosis in hushed whispers. It was a subject to be avoided. Those days are passed and the great white plague no longer strikes terror into the heart of suspects as it used to do. There is still a natural inclination to avoid the thought of leprosy. It retains all its sinister meaning and alarm. None the less it is interesting to learn in this age of modern progress that even this awful disease is being conquered. According to Dr. J. D. Page, of the Dominion Department of Health, out of nine lepers admitted to the lazaretto at D'Arcy Island since 1917 three have been discharged as a result of the treatment adopted. They are described as arrested cases and their condition is no longer infectious. This is an exceedingly interesting announcement and a tribute to the success of scientific research in respect of a disease which has so long baffled the medical world.

LITTLE INCONSISTENCIES.

No doubt there are a number of members of the British House of Commons who imagine that they are capable of discharging all the duties which go with the occupancy of No. 10 Downing Street. One or two ex-Premiers and several present and past Cabinet Ministers no doubt feel the same about it and would not hesitate to respond to the familiar call from Buckingham Palace. On mature reflection, however, and after digesting the Prime Minister's references to one or two little problems, it is doubtful whether the rush for the job would be so great.

Here is a gem from the Manchester peroration that might give pause to some:

I shall watch to see how we are to forgive Germany her reparations and yet make France love us more than ever. I shall watch how we are to pay the United States all we owe her and forgive every country all they owe us.

Humor and tragedy are strangely intertwined in these two sentences. Some of the most vicious critics of the Prime Minister would back France to the last ditch and do things that might produce all sorts of dire conditions in Europe. From these same sources came the demand for justification for defending the Dardanelles against the victorious Turk. Others glibly spout their magnanimity towards Europe and seem to forget that John Bull actually owes Uncle Sam a sum that is greater by something like £250,000,000 than that which represented the British national debt before the war. Small wonder that the Prime Minister would be interested to watch how a successor would go about these things and provide a better guarantee that troubles would be avoided.

TOWN PLANNING.

Interested citizens and civic officials on the Mainland who are sponsoring a proposal for town planning legislation on the lines of a resolution passed at a former convention of the Associated Boards of Trade of British Columbia, and recently endorsed by the convention of Municipalities, may rest assured of the support of all progressive bodies and interested citizens on Vancouver Island.

It is all very well to sit back and discount the need for some more specific regulation that shall govern the width of future streets and the various conditions under which dwellings and business establishments shall be constructed in the British Columbia of ten years hence. But the fact remains that in this Province and in this country of such vast spaces there are evidences of utter thoughtlessness in the laying out of towns which have grown to large cities.

Town planning and public health are more closely allied than some people seem to imagine. Crowded areas with insufficient breathing space soon develop into slums. Slums produce squalor and disease. Avoid these dangers while there is plenty of time. Lay out cities and build buildings that will always conform to the requirements of proper living standards. That may be assured in British Columbia by the passage of the right measure at the next session of the Legislature.

NOTE AND COMMENT

According to a dispatch from Rome a ministerial crisis is imminent and Premier Facta will announce the resignation of his Cabinet. Surely Cabinet resignations in Italy have ceased to be entitled to the term of crisis. We can recall a baker's dozen of such during the last few years.

Admiral Sims has completed forty-three years of continuous service in the United States Navy and has gone into retirement at the age limit. Possibly no other naval officer in the world has ignored the orthodox procedure recognized by his sailing more times than the gallant sailor who was always the staunch friend of Great Britain.

Mr. Lloyd George did not mince matters when he said this at Manchester on Saturday: "We received a message from the French Government that if either Turks or the Greeks invaded the neutral zone they would have to be resisted by force by the Allies. We accepted that. We thought they meant it." Possibly he wishes that Lord Curzon's rebuke to France, when the Quai d'Orsay negotiated the agreement with Kemal Pasha more than twelve months ago, had gone further.

DECLARES PREMIER'S SPEECH A SUCCESS

New York Times Deals With Lloyd George's Words
 Ready to Attack Policy of His Successor

New York, Oct. 16.—Under the caption, "A Fighting Speech," The New York Times in an editorial this morning refers to Lloyd George's defence of his Near East policy as a reasoned one. Its best defence is its success, the paper says, and will better serve to close the mouths of his critics than an explanation of motives and policy.

The Times then discusses that portion of the Premier's speech in which he scorned and ridiculed his critics.

Deal Valiantly.

"Feeling that he had in his hand the sword of the Lord and of Gideon, he laid about him valiantly," says the paper. "Such personal attacks, shot through with rough humor, such taunts and gibes, such tramping upon a victim, can seldom have been put into a political speech. Having chafed under official and diplomatic restraint ever since the adjournment of Parliament, Mr. Lloyd George at last shook himself free and went forth to make a kind of Cromwellian slaughter of his enemies. Never was such execution done in a single oration."

The Prospect.

"He professed a readiness, even a desire, to lay down the burdens of office and find 'freedom,' but he instantly went on to show what use he would make of that freedom. It would be to attack and tear to pieces the policy of whoever might succeed him in the premiership—a delightful prospect for a prospective head of the Government."

The same rule will be applied to Constantinople immediately after the Kemal occupation of the capital. It was announced, and those violating the law will be liable to punishment consisting of forty-nine lashes, three months in prison and a fine of from 50 to 500 Turkish pounds.

BEER WITH THE MILK

Accustomed to open the door of his residence early in the morning and take in the milk, a city householder to-day relieved from his front steps a bulky paper-bag in the bag were three bottles of beer. Across the way from the residence was a car that had evidently been stalled and abandoned. The mystery of the gift of the beverage is being investigated by the police.

CHIROPRACTOR APPEAL HEARING ADJOURNED

Illness of Vancouver Counsel Cause of Postponement

Due to the illness of the counsel for the appellant, Captain Ian MacKenzie, M.P.P., the appeal of Rex versus Mercer set for hearing in the County Court here to-day was adjourned for a day to be fixed.

Harold B. Robertson, K.C., for the respondent, agreed to the adjournment.

Thomas Mercer, a leading local chiropractor, is the appellant in this hearing, bringing an appeal from a conviction and fine of $50 in the city police court on a charge of unlawfully practicing medicine for hire without the necessary registration. The case is a test appeal, other chiropractors in this city being affected.

WATER BOARD TO REPRESENT ALL MUNICIPALITIES

Twelve Members Would Control Water Service Under Present Plans

Twelve commissioners, representing Victoria, adjoining municipalities and the Provincial Government, would control the Sooke Waterworks system and all water services on the southern portion of Vancouver Island, under new Water Board legislation prepared by the Greater Victoria Committee executive.

The proposed Greater Victoria water board, it was explained to-day, would consist of three members from Victoria, two from Oak Bay, two from Saanich, two from Esquimalt and three appointed by the Provincial Government. This board would have complete control over water services, and would be independent of the municipal governments.

The purpose of the board would be to extend water services to many districts around Victoria which are without water at present. It is the hope of the Greater Victoria Committee that this scheme would form the basis of a Greater Victoria project. Extension of water on the Saanich Peninsula, in fact, is regarded as a vital part of any municipal amalgamation project.

The draft legislation, embodying these plans will be brought before a general meeting of the Greater Victoria Committee this week for approval.

BABY DIED FROM BURNS SUSTAINED WHILE IN HOSPITAL

Vancouver, Oct. 16.—Trapped in a burning "croup tent" in the General Hospital last evening, the two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Seth Etherington, of Vancouver, last night sustained burns from which he died shortly afterwards. The child was being treated for bronchial trouble and the tent built over his cot was ignited from the bronchitis kettle used in the treatment.

TEN-YEAR SENTENCE GIVEN AT NELSON

Nelson, B. C., Oct. 16.—Ten years' imprisonment with hard labor was the sentence imposed on Saturday by Chief Justice Hunter upon F. J. J. A. McGowan, of South Slokan, convicted at the assizes Tuesday of a statutory offence against a six-year-old girl. His lordship waived a whipping because of the age of the convicted man; 58 years.

VARSITY LOST AT SOCCER.

Toronto, Oct. 16.—That the University of Toronto athletic directorate made no mistake by entering a team in the Ontario Football Union senior series was demonstrated on Saturday afternoon when the college-lads chased Parkdale to the wire, only to lose in a great battle by a score of 6 to 4.

ARRESTED FOR PARACHUTE DROP

Seattle, Oct. 16.—One-armed Mike der Ronda was arrested Saturday after he had made a parachute drop from the forty-two story L. C. Smith building here, although Mayor Edwin C. Brown had forbidden him to do so.

Der Ronda got permission to go to the top of the building to look after his parachute. After he had landed he explained:

"I leaned out too far and lost my balance. Naturally I grabbed for the parachute bar."

A cheering, laughing crowd of several hundred followed der Ronda to the police station, where he was released after the Mayor had congratulated him on not breaking his neck.

GREEK TROOPS PREPARING TO LEAVE THRACE

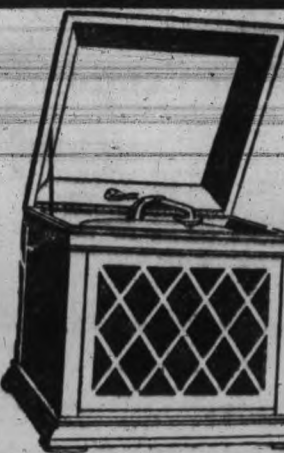

Adrianople, Oct. 16.—The Greek military authorities have announced that the evacuation of the Greek army in Thrace will take place in three stages—first, in the Adrianople district; second, around Rodosto, and third at the Maritza River. Five days will be allowed each section to evacuate.

The Allied officers have been directed to refuse absolutely any extensions of the five-day period.

DELORME RULING PROMISED TO-MORROW

Montreal, Oct. 16.—Mr. Justice Bruneau announced to-day that he would render judgment in the Delorme case to-morrow. The question which will be settled by his decision is whether the local courts have jurisdiction to hear the interdiction proceedings asked by Adelard Tetreault, brother-in-law of Rev. Adelard Delorme. It has been advanced in opposition to the granting of Tetreault's petition that the domicile of the abbe is not in Montreal, but in Quebec, and consequently the proceedings should be heard there.

Victoria Daily Times, October 16, 1897.

At the suggestion of Supt. Eaton, the Victoria Board of School Trustees last evening decided to have chemistry taught practically in the High School.

On next Wednesday an expedition will leave Seattle for Alaska which far surpasses in magnitude and daring any of the numerous Klondike expeditions that have gone out of this, and other sound ports since the rush North began. Two hundred tons of provisions will be taken to the starving populace of Dawson.

The piece of flesh given to Dr. G. Kirker, R. N., of the Royal Dockyard Hospital, by Supt. Hussey of the Provincial police, has received a decision. Dr. G. Kirker says there is no doubt now that the flesh is human, and that a murder has been committed.

LORD AOSCELLES HONORED.

London, Oct. 16.—Viscount Lascelles was presented by his father's tenants at Harwood House, near Leeds, with a portrait, painted by Mr. Oswald Bliley, of Princess Mary, which they had decided upon as their wedding gift.

The Earl of Harwood, who is now 76, spoke with some emotion of the manner in which his declining years have been brightened by the marriage of Princess Mary to his son. "I am most glad to meet you here," he said, "because I am meeting you in the house which probably before many years are out, Princess Mary will preside over. When that event occurs, and she takes her place as head of this house and estate, she will diffuse a ray of sunshine into your lives, as she has already done into the lives of the family who are so proud to welcome her as one."

Viscount Lascelles said that it was the intention of the Princess and himself to live as much as they possibly could at Goldborough Hall.

Woman Missionary Says People Do Not Realize China's Great Resources

An interesting passenger who came out as a cabin passenger on the Metagama, arriving at Quebec on Saturday, was Miss C. C. Macdonald, who has spent 29 years in missionary work in connection with the Chinese-England Missionary Society work.

She is returning from a furlough to London and is on her way to Vancouver to sail back to China by the Canadian Pacific Empress of Russia. Miss Macdonald, speaking of her missionary work in China for the past 29 years, said the China-England missionary where she carried on her activities is located at Kiang in the interior of China, which has a population of 30,000. It was founded by Dr. Hudson Taylor, who did missionary work in China 50 years ago, and saw the need of spreading the Christian gospel in that country. It was undenominational as far as the Protestant churches were concerned, as they worked together at this missionary station, where there was a congregation of one thousand converted Chinese. She said there were missionary stations scattered all over China but the Catholic workers were in the majority.

She liked the Chinese, who were friendly to the United States and England. They were a bright and intelligent people with good commercial business instincts but they did not as yet realize the valuable mineral resources of their country awaiting development. At Kiang there are valuable coal deposits of which only the surface had been touched. The Germans had the right over coal fields some distance from Kiang. Miss Macdonald said she was in Kiang at the time of the Boxer troubles, and with the missionaries had fled to the coast, where they remained for nine months, until they were able to return to their stations.

The missionary work included the teaching of schools for women and young girls as well as spreading the gospel, and she liked the work and the Chinese people.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTES POTENTIAL FORCE IN NATION'S GROWTH

Recent Conference Revealed the Important Part Played by Rural Women

Glancing in retrospect over the Vancouver Island district conference of Women's Institutes which met in session at the Parliament Buildings last week, one is particularly impressed with the potential force of this factor in the body politic. The Institutes have in their membership practically all of the thinking women in the districts in which they operate and comprise in their provincial membership 3,700 women from every section of the rural communities. Their programme of work is of such a varied and practical nature as to form a most excellent training ground in matters directly concerning the well-being of the home and the well-being of the community and through the Institutes the fundamental media, the well-being of the nation.

Party Politics Taboo. Owing to their operation under a department of the Provincial Government, party politics are strictly taboo and must be eschewed in the programme of work, but political questions outside of party matters may be studied and, indeed, are followed with active and intelligent interest. In fact one was struck by the fact that in many matters affected by legislation, these rural women showed a much closer knowledge of the subject and its ramifications than their town sisters who have the advantage of daily newspapers and free libraries.

Naturally this interest tends largely towards a study of problems most nearly concerned with women and children. Under the direction of a capable standing committee on legislation, the various acts and amendments in the class known as domestic legislation, both Provincial and Federal, have been critically studied. Frequently the discussions arising at the conference revealed an intimate grasp of such legislation as the Deserted Wives' Maintenance Act, Mothers' Pensions Act, the Testators Act and similar laws.

Public Health. Whether their domicile in communities often far from hospital or nursing service tends to the creation of a greater interest in public health than their more fortunate sisters in the urban districts, it is difficult to say. But one is impressed with the tremendous part played by the Institutes women in bettering the health conditions in their communities. Securely at Institute but revealed in its report its successful efforts to establish home nursing classes, or to secure a public health nurse, establish day camps or foster the health of the school children in diverse ways.

And the schools in these country districts owe much of their efficiency to the interest of these women. One Institute in a specially settled district in the North of Vancouver Island had provided adequate heating apparatus, towels and cups for the use of the children and had again supplemented this work by providing hot drinks in winter, an inestimable boon to children who have to travel many weary miles in the cold and wet weather.

School Reforms. Many school reforms have been accomplished in the rural sections of the Province as the result of the painstaking effort of members of the Institutes. And their reforms are always practical. The farmer's wife, with her busy life and its endless round of home-making, dairymaking, all too often, "chores," has little time for the so-called frills. Life is a serious business when it is spent in pioneering, and the first essentials come first.

Immigration Problems. Few women in Canada are more closely concerned with the problem of immigration than the women of the Institutes. A large share of new immigrants first settle on the land, and with farmers already settled, many an Old Country girl-bride struggling with unfamiliar ways in Canada owes much to the kindly interest of the members of the Women's Institutes, who organizations are often the only social medium in a widely scattered country.

The strong feeling held by the rural women against the Oriental invasion of the land was revealed in the resolution passed at the conference and the discussion leading to it, in which the members urged that Canada be kept a white man's country.

"Big oaks from little acorns grow," and the Women's Institutes, moving their fair to become one of the strongest factors in the upbuilding of Canada, for its members are being educated to use their vote and to use it to advantage, not in the interest of party but in the interest of State.

Then you can't make both ends meet. "No; they positively refuse to be introduced."

In the moonlight he saw scattered in a straight line some of the gold the Witch had carried away. Anger and a longing for revenge filled his soul. He followed the glittering guides hoping to find Thorny Witch.

But the thorn bushes protected her home and as he became entangled in their cruel grasp he heard the crackling laugh of Thorny Witch. For Thorny Witch is the evil that is always on the lookout for those who are led by greed and envy to become her victims.

Prince Carlo was never seen or heard of again but the diamond star was found hanging on a thorn bush one day when, some time after his arrival, Prince Rollo was hunting in the forest with his servants.

Prince Rollo became the richest king in all the land, and he and Queen Della were beloved by all their subjects. The king and queen did not enter their hearts and they lived in a good old age and found happiness in making others happy.

Mrs. A. Parker came bursting in to see her new neighbor, and found Mr. Jones reclining comfortably in an armchair.

"Well, Mr. Jones, and what's Mrs. Jones doing?"

"Ah, poor soul, she's dying!"

"What? Dying? Why don't you do something?"

Just at that moment Mrs. Jones walked in.

Mrs. Parker spluttered: "But—but you said she was dying!"

"Yes," said Jones quietly, "so she is—to see you mind your own business."

She said, "I'm hurrying to Euston to catch a train. Tony's mother is with me."

He could not see her well in the dim light, but he thought she looked terribly pale and fatigued. And her manner-odd. He said, "I'm just going back. But you, Nona? I thought you were in France?"

"I was—this morning. I only came over to-day."

How funny her voice was. "Nona, you look ill. You sound ill. What's up? Is anything wrong?"

She said, "Oh, Marko, Tony's killed."

That came careering headlong, as though malignity, bitter and wanton, had loosed a savage bolt.

Tybar killed! The cab was away and he was standing there, Tybar killed. She had said they were hurrying to Scotland, to Tony's home. Tybar killed! He was getting in people's way. He went rather unceremoniously to the railing bounding the pavement where he stood, and leaned against them and stared across into the dim cavern of the station yard.

Tybar dead. "I was in that advance of ours. Just before Vimy Ridge. At Arras, Marko, he was shot down leading his men. He was killed. He was shot down. And then he was hit again. He was terribly wounded. Oh, terribly. They thought he was in the clearing station. They didn't think he could possibly live. But you know how wonderful he always was. Even in death he wouldn't let them take him away. They got him to Boulogne. I was there and I heard quite by chance."

"You saw him, Nona?"

She nodded. "Just before he died. He couldn't speak. But he'd been speaking just before I came. He left a message with the nurse."

She drew a long breath. "Marko, the nurse gave me the message. She thought it was for me—and it wasn't."

She wiped her eyes. "He was watching us. I know he knew she was telling me, and his eyes—his eyes were looking at me. I was there to have? Poor Tony! It was there. He died like that."

TO-DAY'S INSTALLMENT—31

The Mystery of Swastika Cross

The Mediterranean or Iberian division of the Caucasian race had a wider range in early times, and was a less specialized and distinctive type than the Nordic. It is very hard to define its southward boundaries from the negro, or to mark off its early traces in Central Asia from those of early Mongolians.

Wilfred Schawen Blunt says that Huxley "had long suspected a common origin of the Egyptians and the Dravidians of India, perhaps a long belt of brown-skinned men from India to Spain in very early days."

It is possible that this "belt" of Huxley's of dark-white and brown-skinned men, ultimately spread even farther than India, that they reached to the shores of the Pacific, and that they were everywhere the original possessors of the Neolithic culture and the beginnings of what we call civilization. It is possible that these brunet peoples are, so to speak, the basic peoples of our modern world. The Nordic and the Mongolian peoples also may have developed separately from this more fundamental stem. Or the Nordic race may have been a branch, while the Mongolian, like the Negro, may have been another equal and distinct stem with which the brunet-brown men met and mingled in south China. Or the Nordic peoples also may have developed separately from a Palaeolithic stage.

A CULTURE THAT WENT AROUND THE WORLD

At some period in human history (see Elliott Smith's "Migrations of Early Culture") there seems to have been a special type of Neolithic culture widely distributed in the world which had a group of features so curious and so unlikely to have been independently developed in different regions of the earth as to compel us to believe that it was in effect one culture.

It reached through all the regions inhabited by the brunet Mediterranean race, and beyond through India, farther India, up the Pacific Coast of China, and it spread at last across the Pacific and to Mexico and Peru. It was a coastal culture not reaching deeply inland.

This peculiar development of the Neolithic culture, which Elliott Smith called the heliolithic culture, included many or all of the following odd practices: (1) circumcision; (2) the very queer custom of sending the father to bed when a child is born, known as the couvade; (3) the practice of massage; (4) the making of mummies; (5) megalithic monuments (e.g. Stonehenge); (6) artificial deformation of the heads of the young by bandages; (7) tattooing; (8) religious association of the sun and the serpent; and (9) the use of the symbol known as the "swastika" for good luck. This odd little symbol spins rapidly around the world. It seems incredible that men would have invented and made a pet of it twice over.

Elliott Smith traces these associated practices in a sort of constellation all over this great Mediterranean-Indian Ocean-Pacific area. Where one occurs, most of the others occur. They link Brittany with Borneo and Peru. But this constellation of practices does not crop up in the primitive homes of Nordic or Mongolian peoples, nor does it extend southward much beyond equatorial Africa.

For thousands of years from 15,000 to 1,000 B. C., such a heliolithic Neolithic culture and its brownish possessors may have been cooing round the world through the warmer regions of the world, drifting by canoes often across wide stretches of sea.

It was then the highest culture in the world; it sustained the largest, most highly developed communities. And its region-of-origin may have been, as Elliott Smith suggests, the Mediterranean and north African region.

PREHISTORIC MIGRATIONS

It migrated slowly age by age. It must have been spreading up the Pacific coast and across the island stepping-stones to America, long after it had passed on into other developments in its areas of origin.

Many of the peoples of the East Indies, Melanesia and Polynesia were still in this heliolithic stage of development when they were discovered by European navigators in the eighteenth century. The first civilizations in Egypt and the Euphrates-Tigris valley probably developed directly out of this widespread culture. We will discuss later whether the Chinese civilization had a different origin. The Semitic nomads of the Arabian desert seem also to have had a heliolithic stage.

The original American population belonged to the Mongolian race, and seems to have reached the American continent by way of Bering Strait at an early Neolithic stage of development. (There is still a coming and going of native skin boats between the two continents). Later (though this is a matter for discussion among ethnologists) fresh elements of population and fresh cultural ideas at the heliolithic level may have reached America by sea.

If there were these later ingredients in the American population, then either they brought new wheat with them or it died out. Maize, the corn of the new world, is a different plant altogether from any known in the old world. But the religious life of the American peoples betrays the same entanglement of the idea of sowing with humana sacrifice, the American reindeer (the horse did not exist on the American continent in the human period until it was introduced by the Europeans). In the tropical forests they became hunters of birds and small game. But in one or two fertile regions, as we shall note later, they developed a more elaborate social order, irrigated, erected important buildings and founded cities and empires.

THE NEOLITHIC STAGE IN AMERICA

The American tribes over the great part of the continent remained at a level of Neolithic barbarism. Over acres of seasonal grass they became nomadic, following the bison. In the far north they followed the caribou. The American reindeer (the horse did not exist on the American continent in the human period until it was introduced by the Europeans). In the tropical forests they became hunters of birds and small game. But in one or two fertile regions, as we shall note later, they developed a more elaborate social order, irrigated, erected important buildings and founded cities and empires.

COL. WARDEN TO UNVEIL MEMORIAL

Sandwich Cairn Will Be Dedicated on Armistice Day

Courtesy, Oct. 14—Col. Warden, D.S.O., will unveil the War Memorial Cairn at Sandwich on Armistice Day.

The 102nd Battalion, trained on Goose Spit, Comox, and largely raised in this district, were known as Warden's Warriors. There was no keener or better soldier during the war and Col. Warden, after being persuaded to raise the 102nd, selected the Spit as an ideal training ground. From the time they commenced training until they were overseas was so short a time as to constitute a record, and the 102nd were in England not more than a month before they sailed for France and the Front Line. The 102nd was one of the few battalions raised in 1916 that was not split up on its arrival in England and it went over to France as an entity. Its record over there at Regina Trench and other places is of history. After returning from France, Col. Warden went with a military mission to Russia and in Siberia and Persia had circulating and remarkable experiences. It is probable that when he comes to Courtenay for the purpose of unveiling the Memorial he will give a lecture on "With the Hush-Hush Expedition in Persia."

CAPITOL THEATRE INSTALLS IMPROVED VENTILATING SYSTEM

In all public buildings, assembly halls, theatres, schools, churches ventilation is of paramount importance. More than ever are architects and contractors adopting modern methods in their building operations, and these days people can rest assured that when they enter any of these buildings the ventilation systems have been duly considered and effected.

At the Capitol Theatre there has just been installed a new ventilating system, which always provides plenty of cool, sweet and fresh air, circulating continuously from the floor to roof, and controlled by powerful electric fans, this air is supplied at the rate of 45,000 cubic feet per minute. One of these, the supplied fan, serves to draw in supplies of fresh air from the top of the theatre, and distributes its current throughout the building in an even and uniform manner. This air, however, does not remain long in the building for it is swept up and carried outside by the exhaust fans to make way for further fresh supplies from the outside. This air can be made on warm evenings, a few degrees lower than the outside temperature, and the reverse can be accomplished when it is cold outside, by blowing in heated air in order to make the inside temperature of comfortable warmth so that every person who attends the performances or pictures at the Capitol, will be supplied by many cubic feet of fresh air per minute for every minute he is in the theatre. Credit for the designing and installation of this system must be given the Pacific Sheet Metal Company of this city.

TO VISIT ISLAND DURING LONG TOUR

Canadian Mining Institute
Secretary Coming

Western Annual Convention to Be Told How Blue Sky Legislation Acts

Immediately following the annual Western meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, which will be held in Vancouver in the middle of November, G. C. Mackenzie, general secretary of the Institute, will pay a visit to Vancouver Island. The intention is to hold an excursion to Ladysmith and the Cassidy Collieries on November 17, and an evening meeting at Nanaimo that day for the Vancouver Island branch, at which two papers will be read: Mr. Mackenzie's itinerary calls for arrival in Victoria on Saturday afternoon, and two days' stay here, leaving on the night boat for Vancouver on Monday, November 20.

A number of mining men are expected to attend the general meeting including the district mining engineer for this division, Mr. Brewster, and the district engineer for the Coast Range, Mr. Batholomew. Most interesting, perhaps, from a general standpoint, will be the address by Professor R. C. Wallace on "Blue Sky Legislation in Manitoba." Professor Wallace's association with Northern Manitoba, until recently in an official position, placed him in a particularly good position to make an effort to check faked mining promotions, and in an article issued in the current number of the Canadian Institute Bulletin, which will be presented at Vancouver, Dr. Wallace says:

What Legislation Is

"Blue sky legislation is not aimed specifically against mining promotions. It claims jurisdiction over the whole field of business, insofar as it may be necessary for business organizations to issue stock in order to obtain the necessary capital for development and expansion. In the administration of the Sale of Shares Act of Manitoba, however, it was early recognized that the law was to deal equitably with mining corporations on the same basis as other companies. In the development of a mineral prospect the very nature of the case precludes, in general, the possibility of sufficient information being available to determine whether a fair return can be expected on the shares, stocks, bonds or securities of the company which desires to develop the property. It would manifestly be unfair to require such a company to obtain the necessary information, with the result that no mining company was able to obtain a certificate from the commission."

"The Legislature then recognized that a company endeavoring honestly to develop a mining prospect should be permitted to appeal to the public for financial assistance, and decided to treat such promotions specially. An amendment was passed allowing stock to be sold, provided the money went, not into the pockets of the promoters, but into the development of the prospect. This end was accomplished by dividing the stock into two classes, promotion stock and development stock. The latter, conspicuously marked Development Stock, may be sold and the proceeds used in the development of the property. No promotion stock can be disposed of to the public while the development proceeds. When later it may be found that the stock has a certain value, a certificate may be issued for the sale of this stock."

Newspaper Advertising

"It is inevitable that on the initiation of restrictive legislation of the kind there should be no criticism that capital would be deterred from embarking on mining enterprise, and that the development of the country would be impeded thereby. Until the amendments with reference to mining companies were introduced, there was point in the criticism. As the legislation now stands, there is a general unanimity of opinion in the province that the act is wisely administered and beneficial in its operation. In 1914 Manitoba was spared the losses and disappointments of the Calgary oil boom, for the reason that the oil companies were not permitted to operate in the province.

"It fell to the writer to take part, two years ago, in framing amendments to the Act in order more fully to restrict the activities of promoters of a somewhat undesirable type, and in that connection he canvassed mining opinion very fully. In practice, the leading newspapers in Winnipeg are constantly referring to advertising material not bearing his initials to the commissioner before inserting it in their publications. In this particular, and in the observance of the provisions of the Act, there is solid support behind the legislation, and remarkably little criticism from quarters where such criticism might be expected."

GYROS TO SIGN UP MILITIAMEN

Notaries Will Register Members of Units at Armories

Steps to have the members of local militia units place their names upon the civic voters' list are being taken by the Gyro Club in connection with its present Get-A-Vote Campaign.

Notaries, who are authorized to take the declarations of members of the Sixteenth Canadian Scottish, while to-morrow night the same procedure will be adopted in the case of the Fifth Regiment.

Militiamen "owning city" property have their names placed on the voters' list automatically, while others of the full age of twenty-one who have resided in Victoria since January 1 of this year, may become enfranchised by registering. They are exempt from the two dollar road tax, and therefore need not pay it in order to get a vote. They must, however, produce a certificate from their commanding officer before taking the registration declaration.

Firms desiring to have their employees registered may secure a Gyro notary for the purpose by telephoning the firm of P. E. Brown & Sons, Broad Street. Already a number of concerns have availed themselves of this service.

The number of people calling at the City Clerk's office to check up their names and addresses on the voters' list is larger than usual. The number of actual registrations is no criterion of the interest being displayed by the general public.

SURPRISE PARTY AND PRESENTATION

Mr. Harold Walker, a popular member of the staff of the Dignon Printing Company, was the principal in a most enjoyable surprise party held at his home on the evening of Oct. 14. The party was organized in view of the approaching marriage of Mr. Walker to Miss Isabel Robertson, which is to be solemnized in the First Congregational Church on Thursday.

The arrangements were in the capable hands of Messrs. C. K. Christian, who were accorded great praise for the excellent manner in which they carried them out. The evening's programme included several entertaining games. Harold M. Dignon completely mystified the company with his spell-binding card-tricks, displaying marvelous execution in his manipulation of the elusive cards. C. K. Christian provoked much mirth with his inimitable recitation of a burlesque poem, responding to an encore with a paraphrase of the nursery rhyme, "The House That Jack Built," clothed in all the grandiloquence of modern scholastic verbiage. Songs contributed by Miss Griffith, whose melodious contralto and cultured rendition were greatly enjoyed, and by Jack H. Trace, who sang with fine dramatic effect and his customary clear enunciation. Dancing was engaged in at intervals during the evening. The instrumental part of the programme was contributed by Will Sherriff, pianist, and J. Fyfe Wilson, violinist, of Wilson's orchestra, who played several of the latest popular dance numbers. Mr. Sherriff accompanied the singing of several entertaining games.

After supper Mr. Dignon, in a few well-chosen and appropriate words, offered hearty congratulations to Mr. Walker and his bride, and on behalf of the Dignon staff presented him with a handsome cabinet of Community silver.

Mr. Walker expressed his sincere thanks and for the fraternal spirit which prompted the gift.

Well beyond the midnight hour the function was brought to a close with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and "Good-night, Ladies," after the thanks of the company had been tendered Mr. and Mrs. Walker for their kind hospitality by Messrs. H. M. Dignon and C. K. Christian.

Among those present were: Harold M. Dignon, C. H. Walker, Sr., and Mrs. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Osard, Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Christian, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Jack H. Trace, Mr. and Mrs. James Elder, the Misses Dalglish, Cutler, Griffith, Moore and McConnell, Messrs. W. Booth, W. Neill, J. Fyfe Wilson, Will Sherriff, Don Gardner, G. A. D. Hebban, Malcolm Cutler, Charlie Osard and Harold Walker.

GERMAN "SOCIETY" TO BOYCOTT THE NEW GERMANY

Potsdam, Oct. 15.—It used to be said there was no society in Germany. The court was considered bourgeois, for all its imperial power. Germany could not boast of the elegant world known to London, Paris, Vienna and St. Petersburg.

But there is a social world in Germany to-day, the most exclusive in the world. Its centre is Potsdam; its ramifications miss all the cities but take in all the country estates in the Reich. It is exactly the same world that centred about the court before, and in its isolation it has acquired a character it did not have of old. It is more monarchist than it was before and it boycotts democratic Germany while it awaits, and works for, the return of a Kaiser.

Such a society has to have a leader and—as its natural leader, the former Crown Princess, keeps out of sight—the leader is Princess Adalbert, her sister-in-law, the wife of the former Emperor's third son. She is the social dictator of the old German aristocracy, which may not be heard from but is all right there.

Princess Adalbert (before marriage Princess Adelaide of Saxe-Meiningen) holds no receptions, gives no balls, because German society does not go in for such things in these "shocking" times. But the word has gone out from her that no German lady is to wear Paris fashions, use French perfumes or wear even those "horrible American shoes." Rather she must be dressed simply, severely, wear long, square-toed shoes, live in the country, and avoid the spurious republican gaiety.

Her orders are obeyed, too. She is no dictator of a moribund society that goes weeping over the Kaiser's grave. That is well enough for the old ladies, who sit mournfully in Sans-Souci Park watching the foreign tourists being herded through the palaces. She has a social realm which is full of life and purpose.

Before the war the German aristocracy was one of the few aristocracies left in Europe which worked. It served the state and conducted well managed estates which yielded handsome incomes. It has been put out of its job by the republic, though it is still, in Germany, as live and energetic as ever. But it has little to do with politics. The voyaging foreigner never sees it. It is buried in the country, living its country life.

To this aristocratic modern industrial Germany has yielded. Industrial Germany grew up under the protection and based on the old culture of feudal Germany, and feudal Germany still considers it as of secondary importance. Industrial Germany goes ahead playing its role in the world and is to the outside world the Germany of to-day. But not to the old aristocracy, which is presently numerous not entirely to be ignored, now or in the future.

Feudal Germany never goes to Berlin. Many of the younger men of the aristocracy have gone into business, and some of the new concerns built up since the war are full of the sons of famous German military houses, but the part of feudal Germany which has remained on the soil sees only Potsdam as its capital. Potsdam to this day has more Princes, Dukes, Counts and Barons living within its confines than any town of ten times its size and they form the quiet, restrained nucleus to which all the "good families" belong. No foreigner gets past their doors. They speak no foreign language, accept no foreign custom and hold up their hands in horror at the cosmopolitanism of present-day Berlin.

Argos Again Loom As Rugby Winners

Lionel Conacher, Whirlwind Half-back, Scores Enough Points for Oarsmen to Defeat Hamilton — Montreal Recovers Late in Game and Defeats Ottawa

Hamilton, Oct. 16.—By defeating the Argos here Saturday afternoon twelve to two, the Toronto Argonauts again virtually won the championship of the inter-provincial union for they have three straight wins and no defeats to their credit, and it is practically impossible for any other team to overtake them. Of their remaining three games, two are at home, one with the Argos, one with Ottawa, and the other is with the Argos at Ottawa. On their showing so far they should go through the season without a defeat.

Sturtevant of the Argos, suffered a broken collar bone, and Tuck, of the Argos, had a cartilage on his knee torn. Conacher defeated the Argos almost single-handed. He scored seven of his team's points by his kicking and paved the way for his only try, when McKelvey attempted to pass to Crocker behind his own line after fumbling Lionel's long punt. The pass went wild, and Young, of the Argos, fell on the loose ball for a try. Conacher converted the try, and the Argos had lined up quickly and caught the Argos napping, was the playing feature.

Ottawa, Oct. 16.—In a game that ran the gamut from glaring blunders in the back field and line play to spectacular excellence on both sides, the Montreal Argos came from behind on Saturday afternoon to defeat the Ottawa Senators by fourteen to eight in their scheduled inter-provincial fixture at Lansdowne Park. Out-scored in the early period, one to nothing at the end of the first quarter and seven to nothing at half time, the Argos wheeled and won a thrilling battle with dogged courage, scoring six points in the third quarter to their opponents' one, while playing against the wind, and then clinching the contest by scoring a try, a forced rouge and a kick to headline in the final frame.

Russell, of the visiting back field, made two spectacular runs of fifty yards and was the outstanding player with Gardner, who did his team's scoring, while Tuban and Connell handled the football. Montreal's switch line plays and brilliantly open cross field running brought remembrances of Shaughnessy's old McGill done.

Winnipeg, Oct. 16.—The Argos practically clinched the senior championship of the Manitoba Rugby Union here on Saturday, when they disposed of the Varsity team 10 to 11 after a stubbornly fought game. The Varsity boys showed a complete reversal in form and outplayed the Argos; but lost out in the closing minutes of play, through lack of experience.

Edmonton, Oct. 16.—Edmonton Eskimos defeated the Harlequins also at Edmonton, in the opening game of the Alberta Rugby Union series on Saturday afternoon, by a score of 22 to 1.

Morris and Skelton were outstanding players for the Quins, while Brunson, the Eskimo half back, starred for the western champions.

Siki Will Meet Joe Beckett For European "Heavy" Title

Paris, Oct. 16.—The next fight in which "Battling" Siki will take part will be in London on November 22, on that date the Senegalese will meet Joe Beckett in a 20-round battle for the heavyweight championship of Europe.

This was decided yesterday when Major Arnold J. Wilson, English promoter of boxing contests, obtained the signatures of both Hellers, Siki's manager, and Siki, to a contract under which Siki will receive £4,450 for his end of the purse.

Siki returned to Paris from Holland this morning and had a long talk with M. Hellers prior to the signing of the contract.

Everything Hunkey, Dory.

The difficulties which had threatened to separate the manager and the fighter had been smoothed over by an announcement that the French Boxing Federation was inaugurating an inquiry as to why Siki obtained only 15,000 francs as his share in the purse for fighting Carpenter, when the winner's end was advertised to be 200,000 francs.

Siki has signed a contract with Hellers, who is charged with the task of looking after the affairs of the Senegalese fighter until May 30, 1923. Hellers not having heard definitely from "Tex" Richard with regard to a fight for his charge in the United States, decided to accept the offer of Major Wilson for a bout in London with Beckett, who last Thursday night in the English capital stowed away Frank Moran, the American heavyweight, in seven rounds.

To-day Siki said he weighed 180 pounds and that he had decided henceforth to fight at this poundage.

Put This In Your Pipe.

The African fighter does not conceal his lack of desire to meet Harry Wills or "Kid" Norfolk, the American negro battlers, but through Hellers he has expressed a wish that "my coming victory over Beckett shall be considered sufficient qualification to meet Jack Dempsey."

Clive Neilson and Kenny Aseltine tied for the individual honors, each winning three firsts. Neilson won the two hurdle races, in which he set a new record, and showed his form in winning the discus. Aseltine had no trouble in the 100 and 220, in which he also set up new marks, while he also won the broad jump.

Cliff Brock beat the pole-vault records by three inches, clearing the bar at 10 feet. Brock also got second in the discus and finished well up in the standing. The other record to go was set by Manitoba in the half-mile relay. The Tobanans were pushed into the way by Alberta.

Bright, of Alberta, led the visiting athletes in the individual standing. He won the only first place for the province in the shot put and took second in the discus and third in the javelin. Stothers, also of Alberta, showed class by taking second in the quarter and three miles, while Barker, a team-mate, got through for three thirds in the runs. Creighton was Manitoba's mainstay in the weights and took a first, second and third.

220 yards—1. Aseltine, Manitoba; 2. Argue, Manitoba; 3. Ferguson, Alberta. Time, 2:33.5 seconds (new record).

Javelin—1. Creighton, Manitoba; 2. Brock, Manitoba; 3. Bright, Alberta. Distance, 137 feet 11 1/2 inches. 440 yards—1. McGill, Manitoba; 2. McLeod, Manitoba; 3. Barker, Alberta. Time, 5:32.5 (new record).

100 yards—1. Aseltine, Manitoba; 2. Campbell, Manitoba; 3. Smith, Saskatchewan. Time, 1:10.5 seconds (new record).

Discus—1. Nelson, Manitoba; 2. Bright, Alberta; 3. Creighton, Manitoba. Distance, 110 feet 5 inches.

Pole vault—1. Brock, Manitoba; 2. Thorlakson, Manitoba; 3. Hutchinson, Saskatchewan. Height, 10 feet 4 inches (new record).

High jump—1. Puttee, Manitoba; 2. Stomonski and Hutchinson, both of Saskatchewan, tied. Height, 5 feet 4 inches.

Three miles—1. McGill, Manitoba; 2. Stothers, Alberta; 3. Douglas, Saskatchewan. Time, 16:44 (new record).

220 yard hurdles—1. Neilson, Manitoba; 2. Argue, Manitoba; 3. Stothers, Alberta. Time, 28 seconds (new record).

HENRY FORD WILL TACKLE BLUE NOSE

"Flivver" Fishing Schooner Wins Right to Meet Canadian Vessel in Race

Gloucester, Mass., Oct. 16.—The Henry Ford, a brightly schooner, out of Gloucester that sails well with the wind and sails better than others against it, is the hope of United States fishermen, to beat the Blue Nose, champion of Canada.

After the Ford, under the hand of Captain Morrissey, had come running home yesterday at a speed of thirteen knots an hour, a winner home in her teeth for the second time in the elimination series of 40-mile races between four crack schooners of the North Atlantic fishing fleet, the sub-committee of the American race committee formally accepted her as their choice for challenge for the international championship cup, won last year by the Blue Nose.

The trophy will be at stake in the international series, starting off this port next Saturday, to defend which the Blue Nose arrived here on Saturday, shipshape and all well.

Arsenal's Debacle Football Surprise

Queen's Overwhelmed McGill in Opener

Red and White Beaten for First Time in 20 Years by Presbyterians

Batstone, Formerly With the Argos, Does Great Work; Big Crowd Saw Game

Montreal, Oct. 16.—Marked superiority in back field play earned Queen's University a twelve to one victory over the McGill rugby squad in the opening game of the inter-collegiate season locally, played at the Percival Molson Memorial Stadium on Saturday afternoon.

Over 8,000 witnessed the inexperienced and light red and white players' defeat from the "tricolor," the first loss suffered by McGill on its own gridiron since the opening of the new stadium in 1919 and the first defeat on their own gridiron from a Queen's team in a score of years.

Halves Did Good Work.

Dashing open field running by Leadley and Batstone, the two halves of the Presbyterian squad, steady kicking by the same pair, and the deadly tackling of the tricolor wings going down under kicks, accounted for the victory of the visiting college.

McGill added its share in Queen's favor through the over anxiety of inexperienced players on the line who continually were called for offense, and seven penalties of fifteen yards each, twice when the red and white was in a dangerous position, resulted in Queen's scoring, first with a field goal by Leadley and second a touchdown on an end run around the McGill right when Harding grounded the ball and Leadley converted.

The Canadians' goal was also subjected to considerable bombardment, but Moffatt was safe for all but the sole shot that beat him.

The teams were as follows: Thistles—Watt, Burton and Tuck; Thistles—Watt, Burton and Tuck; Thistles—Watt, Burton and Tuck; Thistles—Watt, Burton and Tuck.

Crusaders—Holman; Webster and Aicholson; Blacklock, H. Moulton and McInnes; Stewart, Lupton, Rice, Essler and Allen.

Sons of England—Hetherington, Colman and Kerley; English, Tupperman; Harcourt, Phillips, Tostevin, Smith, Savident and Shanks.

Native Sons—Moffatt; Taylor and Wooley; Campbell, Prevost and Ness; Mulcahy, Campbell, T. Moffatt, Cummins and Waddington.

COAST LEAGUE ENDS WITH SEALS CHAMPS

San Francisco Finished Four Games Ahead of Vernon With Angeles Third

San Francisco, Oct. 16.—The Pacific Coast League pennant for 1922 comes to San Francisco today. When the last game of the season had been played yesterday, the San Francisco club was four games ahead of Vernon, its next competitor. Los Angeles stands third, Sacramento fourth and the list with 75 games won out of 200.

San Francisco won 137, Vernon 123, and Los Angeles 110. Yesterday's results were as follows: At Seattle—R. H. E. Seattle 10 1 0; Los Angeles 3 2 0.

At Portland—R. H. E. Portland 10 1 0; Seattle 3 2 0.

At San Francisco—R. H. E. San Francisco 10 1 0; Los Angeles 3 2 0.

Suffered Most Crushing Defeat of Season — West Bromwich Scored Five Times in Last 25 Minutes — Small Success Achieved By Visiting Clubs in O. C. Football

London, Oct. 16.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—The chief feature of Saturday's league football was the small success achieved by visiting clubs, only six actually winning, while 23 clubs, playing away from home, failed to score.

Easily the most sensational result was the Arsenal team's debacle, which was the most crushing defeat so far this season. West Bromwich scored five times in the last twenty-five minutes. The London team's defence has collapsed badly on foreign grounds. The defeat did not, however, explain in view of Arsenal's well merited victory over the same team last week.

Chelsea is Second Now.

Chelsea's victory was a fine performance. This club is now second in the league table and unquestionably one of the most difficult in the country to defeat.

Cardiff's further defeat shows the cup holders are a long way from being the team of two seasons ago.

Cardiff has fallen off also. Like Liverpool the First Division leaders, Plymouth, leader of the southern section, repeated their victory and retained the lead but Barnesley has given way to Leicester as the head of the second division.

BALTIMORE'S WIN CAUSES REAL RIOT

St. Paul Fans Peeved at Umpire's Decision; Orioles Are Junior Champions

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 16.—The Baltimore Orioles' victory over the St. Paul Saints yesterday, 4 to 3, in the first game of the National League, was a real riot.

There were thirteen two-hit games in the American and none in the National, but the younger organization was one of the biggest individual factors in his team winning the pennant and then trouncing the New York Yankees in the world's series just ended.

Bill Doak, of the St. Louis Cardinals, twirled both the one-hit games, the first on May 11 against the Giants and the second on July 13 against the Philadelphia Quakers.

Urban Faber, of the Chicago White Sox, and Stanley Coveleski, of the Cleveland Indians, pitched three three-hit games, and Van Linder, the heavy hitting moundsman of the Browns, finished two three-hit games in the National League.

Urban Faber, of the Chicago White Sox, and Stanley Coveleski, of the Cleveland Indians, pitched three three-hit games, and Van Linder, the heavy hitting moundsman of the Browns, finished two three-hit games in the National League.

Jack Quinn, of the Red Sox, and Charlie Robertson, of the Chicago Americans, were the only men in the American and two-hit games. Quinn accomplished the first against the White Sox on July 26, and the latter against the Indians on August 25. The other three-hits pitched by the American League were: Leverage and Robertson, White Sox; Stoner, Tigers; Collins, Red Sox; and Harris, Athletics.

Pilette Did Very Well.

Herman Pilette, of the Tigers, turned in three two-hit games, an unusual accomplishment, and Joe Bush, the four-ball star of the Yankees, twice led the opposition down with two hits. Other two-hit pitchers in the American League are: Dagny, St. Louis; Robertson, of the White Sox; Quinn and Penock, of the Red Sox; Mays and Jones, Yankees; Erickson, Senators, and Uhle, Indians.

The two-hit pitchers of the National League are: McNamara, Braves; Aldridge and Osborne, Cubs; Jess Haines, Cardinals, who also twirled one three-hit game, and Couch, Reds, also with a three-hit game to his credit.

EMPRESS BILLIARDS

The following games are scheduled for to-morrow night at 8 o'clock in the Empress billiard tournament: Irish 0200 vs Wright R75. Ralston vs. Kroger R75. There is great excitement over the game between Irish and Wright because of Irish's win over MacMillan by one point in 1917.

CITY TAXPAYERS LOUDLY PROTEST INCREASE IN LEVY

Indignant, They Swarm in City Offices, But Get No
Satisfaction

City officials are having a busy time these days gently but firmly turning away angry taxpayers who are excited about heavily increased rates this year. Imposition of a tax on improvements has caused a violent outburst of protest among taxpayers and they have not been slow to make their feelings known.
In one city department the other day the officials were only able to do a couple of hours' work because they were besieged by indignant taxpayers, they said to-day.

Ratepayers have just begun to realize the precise effect of the improvement tax, city officials explain.
When they read in the newspapers early this year that improvements were to be taxed they did not think much about it. When they received tax bills during the last few weeks, however, they understood only too well that the improvement tax means a big increase in the levy to be paid by home owners.

Dozens of people come to the City Hall every day now and ask to see the Mayor about their taxes. As the Mayor has nothing to do with the matter city officials talk to the visitors themselves, and explain that there is nothing that they can do.

Taxes, however, are being collected satisfactorily now, City Treasurer
C. Smith said to-day. It is impossible to predict yet what proportion of the annual levy will be collected by the end of the month.

LIQUOR LOSS IS AIRED IN COURT

Allege Valuable Stock Stolen While Owner at Point of Death

An unusual story of the disappearance of thousands of dollars' worth of liquor, the property of the late Mrs. Mary Simpson, 1305 Esquimalt
Road, from the residence of her son, at Cobble Hill, was unfolded in the city police court to-day, when Philip Handley was charged on remand with retaining possession of a portion of the goods, knowing them to have been stolen. The accused pleaded not guilty and elected summary trial.

Frank Higgins, K. C., acted for the prosecution and R. C. Lowe for the defence.

The chief witness for the prosecution was Hugh Simpson, who identified certain pieces of broken board which were said to represent a portion of the stolen goods. The boards bore the name of Ledingham, Old Esquimalt Road. Witness could not identify several bottles that accompanied the broken cases as part of the exhibit.

Over a year ago forty-five cases of Black and White Scotch whisky were taken into the home of the witness, the property of the late Mrs. Simpson. Witness with a brother removed the liquor to the Cobble Hill home and there stored it in an attic. In August and September of this year witness was in town nursing his mother while the latter was in a dying condition.
While absent from his home the liquor was taken, he stated.

Witness identified the name Ledingham on the exhibit as that of his uncle, Francis Ledingham.

The hearing adjourned at 1 p. m.
to continue this afternoon.

LIQUOR CHARGES ARE FURTHER REMANDED

Charged on remand in the city police court to-day on two counts with infractions of the Government Liquor Act, the Davis Liquor Company, Ltd., of Vancouver, were further remanded for hearing on Monday next.

One count is an allegation of being unlawfully in possession of unsealed liquor, while the other charges the defendants with failure to report the presence of taxable liquor in stock, which was in a Victoria warehouse.
H. A. Maclean, K. C., appeared for the defendant company, agreeing under protest to the adjournment. R.
C. Lowe appeared for the Liquor Control Board.

Ah Lum and Lee, two Chinamen, charged with being found in an opium den on premises at 739 Pembroke St., received jail terms of three months hard labor each. The presence of children in the house led the court to waive the usual fine in favor of the heavier sentence. It was stated that a Japanese sailor, charged with being drunk in public failed to appear and bail to the extent of $100 was ordered arrested. Joseph Brinton, Harold Ferguson, John R.
Waters and Sidney Howard were each fined $5 for riding cycles on footpaths. George Campion was fined a like amount for failure to have a cycle light in operation after dusk.
Thomas C. Ross paid $10 for passing a street-car dropping passengers.

gramme is also being arranged.

WANTED: NARROW GAUGE RAILWAY

"The Ghost Breaker" Is Now
at Capitol

Wanted: One narrow gauge railway. This unusual prop was on the van list of Alfred Green, director of Wallace Reid in "The Ghost Breaker," a new Paramount picture, which will be the attraction at the Capitol Theatre all this week.

Mr. Green found, however, that the old style narrow-gauge railway is extremely scarce and that the nearest one to Los Angeles was in the vicinity of San Luis Obispo, one of the oldest California towns and the site of one of the historic missions founded by the early Spaniards.

Part of the principals—those engaged in the railway scenes showing Wallace Reid as Warren Jarvis arriving in his small home town in Kentucky—and a few extra types, went to that place where several scenes were photographed; after which the company went to San Francisco where the dock scenes were filmed. The troupe then boarded a steamer for Los Angeles and on the trip down the scenes which depict the action supposedly taking place on the steamer en route to Spain, were shot.

Lila Lee and Walter Hiers are the featured players. Both have strong roles and they render Mr. Reid sufficient support.

"ONE CLEAR CALL"
NOW AT ROYAL

Takes Its Place With Notable Productions

Containing every element that goes to make up a really worth-while picture and having an all-star cast, "One Clear Call," the first National attraction that opened to-day at the Royal Victoria Theatre, is one of the best all-around entertainments offered by the screen in some time.

"One Clear Call" is not only absolutely free of any objectionable scenes, but its theme is one that will find a responsive chord in many spectators.

The story runs smoothly, sustains interest, builds to a strong climax and ends at just the right moment. Here and there through little human touches, the action excites mirth or starts a tear; and in the clannishness and the operation episodes it holds with a grip so tense that one is almost breathless with anxiety. Much of the credit for these merits is due the director, John M. Stahl, a man whose name and efforts are gradually becoming synonymous with good pictures.

To tell the story, there would detract from the alluring air of mystery and the many surprising turns in the picture itself. It is based on the famous novel of the same name by Frances Nimmo Greene, and was prepared for the screen by Bess Meredith. The locale is a small town in Alabama.

Followers of the screen will find many of their favorites in the cast. The four principal roles are taken by Milton Sills, Irene Rich, Henry B. Walthall and Claire Windsor, and other parts, equally vital if not as prominent, are played by Doris Pawn, Shannon Day, Joseph Dowling, Edith Yorke, Donald MacDonald, Annette De Poe, Fred Kelsey, Stanley Goethals, William Marion, Nick Cogley and Albert MacQuarrie.

Made under the Louis B. Mayer banner, "One Clear Call" is lavishly produced and beautifully photographed. Women will find it especially attractive because of the girls' fashion creations. It is released through First National.

LAUGHTER LEADER
HERE ALL WEEK

"Grandma's Boy" Will Be Presented at Dominion

"The near-collapse of Charles Chaplin as the leading screen comedian by Harold Lloyd is one of the phenomena of the times," writes Monroe Lathrop, celebrated critic of The Los Angeles Express, and he explains this by saying, "It is Lloyd's consistent leadership in breaking away from puerility that has won his pre-eminence."

Guy Price of The Los Angeles Evening Herald says: "Lloyd rears his head formidably to strike a knockout blow at those who have imagined themselves in his class or kidded themselves into so thinking."

"Of course, we know we were entitled to expect another winner from Lloyd," says Edwin Schallert of The Los Angeles Times. "In fact, we've grown used to such expectations."

Queen Martin, in The New York World, said: "If a comparison is to be made of the funny business on our screen in the last year, honors must go to Harold Lloyd."

There is no denying that Harold Lloyd stands at the top of the comedy ladder—a place earned by his originality, personality and hard, earnest work.

And his humor is the brand that lasts—clean, wholesome and true to human nature!

"Grandma's Boy" will play at the Dominion Theatre all this week.

The new Larry Senon comedy, "The Agent" is one of the most elaborately dressed comedies ever screened, and reminds sharply of the technique of the comic opera. The difference is mainly in that the screen requires so much more expensive setting, and portrays much more elaborate scenes with vast crowds. The scenes in this Vitagraph comedy were made on the Mexican border, with a small army of Mexican extras. There is a curious and irresistible mixing of the sub-

AMUSEMENTS TO-DAY

Royal—"The Silent Call."

Columbia—"Ten Nights in a Barroom."

Time and the ridiculous, which is our idea of good comedy sense. After seeing this picture one wonders if Larry Senon hasn't struck a resounding chord. It is always good comedy to make the sublime appear ridiculous. And then at the finish of this most unique laugh-maker Larry puts the big one over on his audience with a most astonishing finale.

He—Did you have much trouble learning to sing?
She—Trouble? You just ought to have heard the neighbors.

"TEN NIGHTS IN A BARROOM"

This Is Feature Presentation at Columbia

The popular demand for motion pictures having a wide appeal, has led to the inevitable production of "Ten Nights in a Barroom" on a scale commensurate with the vastness of the title. Arrow Film Corporation is presenting the picture to the public, and Manager Clark, of the Columbia Theatre, has secured this special feature film for his show for the entire week, commencing with tomorrow's matinee. It is a Blazed Trail production. This producing unit has been responsible for many great screen successes, but none greater than this. Oscar Apfel directed the picture. He had good material to work on. The story is sixty years old; as a novel it has sold many millions of copies all over the world, ranking with the Bible and other classics. There is probably not a home on the civilized globe where the title of the book is not known, and as a stage play it has been seen by multitudes.

Edwin Waugh, an English writer; T. S. Arthur, an American novelist; W. W. Pratt, an American dramatist, handled the theme with deftness and success. Now comes L. Case Russell, author of many hundreds of motion picture successes, to present the story in its 1921-22 aspect.

If you have tears prepare to shed them now. You must be a withered, dedicated specimen of humanity, indeed, if "Ten Nights" and its accompanying music fails to move you. Your lachrymal glands must be as dry as a bone in the Mojave desert; you must have a heart of flint, a head of steel; you must be utterly without sentiment, emotion, sympathy, kindness, tenderness, if you can sit unaffected by this touching drama. You must be a cold proposition.

FAMOUS FARCE FOR NEXT OFFERING

"What Happened to Jones"
Will Be Presented at The Playhouse

Playhouse show number six is to be a complete change. The potted comic opera which has held the boards so successfully for the past ten weeks is to suspend for two weeks and a screaming farce is to take its place. "What Happened to Jones" is the name of the next production and as it has been proved beyond all doubt that mirth and humor are what the theatre-going public want this show is destined for a very successful engagement. No doubt a great many people have seen "What Happened to Jones" which is known as one of the four funniest farces ever written, but it is such a masterpiece of comedy that it never grows old and requires no bringing up to date. Mr. Hincks has staged this farce in Victoria, when it proved to be one of the most popular of all his productions. This time he has been fortunate in securing a number of his original cast and with the addition of new talent a very particularly strong performance will be presented. The cast includes—Ernie Petch, Harry Davis, Stewart, Clark, Bruce Bredin, Bob Webb, Frank Allwood, Herbert Kent, Mrs. Fred Beilby, Mrs. (Major) Taylor, Peggy Lewis, Eileen Allwood, Dorothy Stewart-Robertson and "Bobby" Stevens. It has been said that "What Happened to Jones" is one continuous round of laughs. The patronage at the playhouse is increasing rapidly and it is advisable to book seats well in advance. Reserved seats are now on sale and the first performance will be Wednesday night at 8.30 sharp.

A Moving Picture of the West

Where is there a better 'ole?—Western Extravagance—
The Town Guy's Raid on the Farm—Getting Through the Farmer's Defences.

Good Luck Makes Bad and Sweet Are the Uses of Adversity.

By Howard Angus Kennedy.

That was a sporting offer Premier Dunning made to a brother Saskatchewaner who said he was fed up and wanted to quit.

"Tell me when you've found a better 'ole, and I'll lend you the fare."

On second thoughts, no—not a sporting offer. A safe bet.

When the quitter had studied up conditions in every country named in the geography, and looked into the homestead laws of Mars, and got a line on the other planets and their respective moons, he no longer yearned to quit. He turned back quite cheerfully to his own old farm and hitched up his team for the Fall ploughing.

This Canadian West—taken at the worst, how mighty good it is! And, at its half-way best, miraculous.

We are short of cash. That is one trouble that may certainly be admitted of the West as a whole. We cannot pay all we owe. . . . can you, in the East?

A handful of municipalities are in default. They are charged with extravagance. True, in general, they spent money on public works with an eye to the great increase in population—which did not arrive. If the expected increase had come about, we might now be praising these very municipalities for their remarkable foresight and courage.

Your farmers have also been extravagant. I am told.

To be sure, so we have! It's so long since we had the chance, I'd almost forgotten.

There was my friend Ambrey, for instance. Dazzled by the rare coincidence of a big crop and a big price, he went off and spent a Winter on the coast.

Old Mr. Bamberg took a long trip to the home of his childhood down east. Mr. Bamberg bought a filly, and Mr. Bamberg traded his Ford for something a bit classier. . . . Fifty per cent of a farmer's expenditure on his car may be called extravagance, perhaps, if he lives only a few miles from town, but surely not more than 15 or 10 per cent if he lives 10 or 15 miles out. . . . Does every city man give up his car because he is heavily in debt? And he can get four or five rides for a quarter on a street railway.

On clothes and exotic food stuffs the farmer and his family have not often extravagated, even when they could. As for gramophones, not to mention telephones, I should be sorry to see the poorest farmer give them up (unhappily he has sometimes had to) even with the banker and implement maker and storekeeper and mortgagor all barking at his door together. It is worth so much to the country to keep the farmer on the job, and his children after him, it would be a calamity if they had to give up any little approach they have won to the variety of city nights or anything that has lessened rural isolation. And it is just when times are hardest that these things do most good.

No, the over-spending which accounts for say one-third of the farmer's hard-earned money to-day—the other two-thirds being due to under-earning—has been mostly for business, not for pleasure.

Bad judgment in business, if you like, amounting often to folly. Cut out folly and knaves will lose their job. The percentage of folly is no higher among farmers than among other folk.

Ruined by Good Luck.

In the wheat gambler's paradise, the dry southwest where one tremendous crop may suddenly appear in a run of failures, of course you expect the worst effects of good luck. But prosperity may intoxicate even where it is neither extreme nor uncommon.

When Southern Manitoba had a poor crop and the more northerly districts a good one, men in search of land turned up their noses at the south and bought heavily at soaring prices in the north. The land was all right, but it could not carry the load.

There was, Mr. X. for instance, he bought a half section for $22,000 or $24,000, half cash. Mr. X. went down in the grain slump last Fall, and quit, with his $16,000 lost. Those who have not quit, often paying such prices are staggering under their burden.

It is the old story: the hare and the tortoise. That district, after its wild spurt, has fallen behind in poverty and defeat. Meanwhile the neglected south, freed by lack of buyers from any temptation to sell and get rich quick, has adopted the slow but sure method of stock-raising, and now sends more good stock to market than any other part of the province. Accordingly, where the poor crop grew the slump has caused less trouble than where the crop was fatally good.

When Westerners revise their Litany, you will hear them pray:

"From drought and speculation, from flood and fire, from battle and murder and from bumper crops, Good Lord deliver us!"

How Poor are We?

The tragedy fans are wriggling impatiently in their seats. "Where," they ask, "are your harrowing scenes of hollow-checked despair? When are you going to show us the mother wasting away on a heap of straw in the corner of a dilapidated shack, the ragged children casting hungry eyes on a bare table, the gaunt unshaven father at a broken window, glaring out upon the untillied field?"

I feel really embarrassed. My trix-eyed camera has scoured the country for pathetic scenes of ruin and destruction and found none—except one place where the family had left the door open when they went up town to see "The Unhidden Guest" at the picture show, and their pet goat had got in and pulled all the stuffing out of the furniture.

Down in the dry southwest of Alberta there is real destitution among some of the people who have been trying to farm outside the irrigated areas, but they are being fed and clothed by Government and private help, and apparently will have to be till they are moved elsewhere.

Throughout the rest of the country, whatever their difficulties, the people are well fed and clothed. . . . Rags? Why certainly we wear rags, except when our wives or mothers make us doll ourselves up for society.

In hard times our rags have to last a little longer than ordinary, that's all. . . . Rags left in the air, and the air is good. Pity the poor city slave who cannot wear rags for fear of Mrs. Grundy and her police! . . . As for grub, well, we can live in robust health and perfect comfort without buying a thing we can't grow, except sugar and salt; and perhaps tea or coffee; and in hard times many do—some cutting out even the tea and coffee.

We have had to sell at low prices some of our animals that we should have kept. A lot are not worth keeping—but that is another story. I hope to go into the "Trouble in the Western Zoo" next week.

We have to make our old machinery serve, when we should like to buy new. But that means that we have to take better care of it, which is all to the good.

Must Work More.

We have had to cut down hired help, which compels us to work more ourselves. In some cases that is no loss; but it comes hard on the farmer who has always worked up to the limit of his strength. . . . Owing to such enforced economies, this year's crop has been produced at a minimum cost in money, but a maximum in the farmer's own labor. When you remember that the rural population of the Prairie Provinces is only 1,250,000, including villagers as well as the women and children and old folk on the farm, you can begin to imagine the prodigious energy of the little handful of real farm workers who have raised this enormous crop.

And what will they get out of it? When they have paid off perhaps one third of fourth of their debts, they will have enough left, by continuing the most rigid economy, to live as they have been living till next year's crop comes in—when, if the crop is again a large one, they will be able to pay off another big slice of their debt. Will they be satisfied with that? Fortunately, no. And the more they are dissatisfied, the brighter their outlook will be. They will insist on effect of outside world conditions, and of legislation at home and abroad, but their own practice. They will make, they are already making, discoveries which will inevitably lead them to change that practice in many ways, great and small.

The effect of these changes, where the majority have begun to do what the small minority are doing now, and the minority have moved a little further ahead, will be such an enormous gain, that the West will hardly recognize itself.

Then, looking back, maybe we shall laugh and thank a slump for our salvation.

MUSICAL NOTES

(By George J. Dyke.)

Give the people an opportunity of hearing and seeing the finest in the arts, they will arise to the occasion and give their support to well-arranged, skilful and talented presentations of operas and plays, and to artistic programmes of music. At this, the beginning of the Winter musical season, there has been already witnessed large audiences at the recent visit of the American Light Opera Company. The continuous excellent attendance of delighted and well satisfied people are revelling in the atmosphere of talent at the Playhouse. There was an unusually large turnout of music lovers at the Capitol to greet the superlative recital given by Gertrude Huntley Green and Gideon Hicker; many hundreds were seen gathered before the service commenced at the Metropolitan Church last Sunday evening listening to the organ recital by its excellent organist, Edwards Parsons. A congregation of the same evening crowded the Congregational Church, evidently attracted by the unusual length of musical numbers included in the service. The opening community concert at the Drill Hall last Saturday evening by the Fifth Regiment band, to be continued throughout the Winter months, saw many hundreds enjoying themselves there, and it is also predicted that the same kind of concerts to be given on Wednesday evenings by the 14th Scottish band will also attract large crowds. Taken altogether, we need not alarm ourselves that our people are unappreciative, inactive or lacking in community spirit; no, indeed, from all appearances and getting away with such a good start, we are led to believe we are all to have an enjoyable educational and elevating concert season during the coming Winter season.

Bandmaster James M. Miller informs me that he has had a very large number of enquiries asking if Victoria is to have Sunday evening band concerts. It is hoped that the musical columns of The Times will shortly be able to make an announcement in this direction. In the meantime negotiations are under way for a series of concerts, and subject to the sanction of the Police Commissioners, in the possession of the pro-motor of these concerts, it will not be long before a start is made. Of the people's support here there is no question. By the way, it is noticed that Sunday band concerts have already commenced at Vancouver, Edmonton, Winnipeg, Toronto and Montreal and at Vancouver at the opening Sunday band concert, the Mayor of the mainland city presided over the proceedings. As pointed out for many years, give the people plenty of music, they are the happier and better from its potentialities, and quicker than is generally imagined music is coming to be appreciated as one of the most powerful influences that can be exerted in almost every phase of our human activities.

I have always pinned my faith on the splendid appreciation of the concert goers of the capital city, and can go further in saying that not only are they appreciative, but they are musically cultured.

A manager has said: "The best artists in Europe have all been heard this side of the Atlantic, or will be heard during the coming season." Certain it is that both Victoria and Vancouver in their musical histories have not had so many artists of international fame as have already been announced. And it must be remembered that local managers make the gamble on attendance, and that nearly all of these artists have large guaranteed fees.

There is no truth that Paderewski was ill in Switzerland. He is at his chateau on Lake Geneva, and is devoting several hours daily to his piano.

The fund for the Bayreuth festival, planned for 1924, has been over-subscribed. The first rehearsals have already commenced. This festival is an immense undertaking.

It is said that a young tenor, formerly a salesman in Chicago, is hailed as Caruso's successor. Luisa Tetrazzini, now in the British capital, in a recent interview, says she has made this discovery. His name is Attilio Bazzani.

The "Mikado" was included in a ten weeks' season of outdoor light opera at Baltimore, which closed last Saturday. It is said that 3,000 people witnessed a hilarious performance in one night there.

Peculiarly enough the opera "Don Giovanni" (Don Juan), perhaps the greatest of Mozart's works, was a great success at its premiere in "Progrus" 1787, but when given subsequently at Vienna (1788) it was a

The greatest public library of music in the world is in Manchester, England. The library was founded over thirty years ago by the late Sir Henry Watson. It has nearly 40,000 volumes, and every known branch of music is represented. All sorts of men and women flock to the library daily. It is no wonder that Manchester has 300 choral societies.

$1,600,000,000 LOST IN GERMAN MARKS AS BUBBLE NOW COLLAPSES

Greatest Speculative Folly of Centuries Reaches Peak
With Losses to Canadians and Americans of $960,000,000 and of $672,000,000 to English; Golden Stream Totalling Twice Indemnity Payments Has Flowed Into Germany In Exchange For Paper Now Worthless; England and America In Mad Gamble Fling Their Gold In Scramble For Unguaranteed Currency Turned Out From Presses In Billions By Insolvent Government.

New York, Oct. 16.—People of United States and Canada have "invested" nearly $1,000,000,000, or $960,000,000 to be exact, since the war in German paper money now almost worthless, according to an investigation by The New York World.

They paid 10 cents, 5 cents, 1 cent a mark, buying altogether $9,000,000,000 paper marks at an average of 1 1/2 cents a mark or $12 a thousand. To-day paper marks sell below 40 cents a thousand.

The World says that the buyers of marks and German mark bonds are the victims of a stupendous folly, the most gigantic financial delusion in history.

About one-third the loss is represented by stocks and bonds bought in Germany with marks.

The buyers have given to Germany more than twice as much gold as Germany has paid in gold in war reparations payments to date, $365,637,000.

They have paid Germany a sum equal to one-third the total of the American Civil War debt of $2,845,907,626 in Aug. 1, 1865.

Victors over Germany in the Great War they have paid her through their mark "investments" as much as Germany in victory collected from defeated France as indemnity after the Franco-Prussian War of 1871—$268,000,000.

British Losses Immense.

The story of this frenzied buying of German marks never has been told. Only fragmentary, disconnected reports have appeared from time to time.

The World's estimates are based on Berlin official statistics of Sept. 9, 1922, and latest records of German mark distributors in this country.

London reports that British losses in German marks speculation amounts to $672,000,000—an even greater loss per capita than the loss of this continent.

Germany up to Sept. 9 had circulated 243,000,000,000 paper marks, the unguaranteed currency of a war-beaten, practically insolvent government.

But the crash has not come, perhaps because foreign gold, the gold of England as well as of America, bought half of Germany's bubble currency.

10,000,000 Mark Buyers.

The World estimates that America's buyers of German paper marks, holds 30,000,000,000 in America, own 20,000,000,000 held in Germany, 5,000,000,000 held in Amsterdam, Paris and other places, and have invested 25,000,000,000 of the marks they bought in buying German bonds and stocks.

New York City alone has lost, sunk without trace of recovery $22,500,000 of the $24,000,000 she paid for German paper marks.

The World estimates the total number of individual investors on this continent at 10,000,000 based on actual records of sales of paper marks imported in currency from 1919 to 1922.

Famous financial bubbles of history show nothing to compare with the German mark craze. John Law's French company bank crashed and ruined a million Frenchmen overnight when its paper currency inflation reached 12,000,000,000 francs on an original capital of 1,677,000 francs. France, the homeland, suffered.

Scramble Started in 1919.

Buying in America began with those who speak German and they remained the bulk of the market. The millions of American dollars they poured into paper marks purchasing as soon as the Versailles Peace Treaty was signed in Midsummer, 1919, attracted the notice first, and soon aroused the cupidity, of non-Germanic observers. The bankers, brokers, foreign exchange dealers here and throughout the country agree that German-speaking buyers took 80 per cent of the German paper marks bought for America.

Easy money! The lure of speculation made successful business men here get German paper marks quick, paying big premiums, fearing they would be too late for the great garnering of dream profits. Right after the signing of the Versailles Peace Treaty in July, 1919, they paid for German paper marks as high as half their par price, 24 cents, which the paper mark commanded before the war. They paid more than paper marks were selling for in Germany's neighbor countries. This easy money mirage made millions of Americans, men of large salaries, take their savings out of the banks and buy Germany's paper promises. It emptied the little iron safes in 100,000 cupboards. It sent millions of dollars in Liberty bonds to market here to get money to invest in Germany's paper marks. And it still is taking its toll—in pennies to-day where it was $10 bills yesterday.

Germany sold her paper money not at home to the loyal and those familiar with that financial medley. She sold it abroad. She sold it where it never had been seen before except in the hands of tourists—in America. She sold it so fast that the outside world took all she printed during one period of months, February to July, 1921. At the same time the mad millions of foreign buyers pulled out of Germany billions of marks which had circulated there. This was because the Government printing presses could not supply the demand abroad from America and elsewhere.

A Great Trap for Greed.

Only a few bankers bought them. A star of the screen, a man, bought a million paper marks in New York early in the market and paid a high price for them. He has them still.

A German American banker in a Western city holds 35,000,000 paper mark currency banknotes, his own. Every big gambler in foreign ex-top prices and are holding on to the most tightly.

Human greed never before betrayed so many millions of men of all grades of intelligence and prosperity into such a trap, plastered all over with the warnings of common sense and business experience. Even Berlin weakly whispered a warning to the banking world. The riot of speculation in her paper money was certain to have its aftermath of excessive inflation in which she too should suffer.

more plentiful than cigar store coupons everywhere. The children use them for toy money. Pushcart men sell them for a few pennies a bundle in the municipal open markets. Peddlers hawk them in Wall Street, on Park Row and in the night life districts of Broadway. Cigar stores give them as premiums, and thriftily, too, because they can be bought ten marks for a cent and the cigar store coupon that is not worth one-fourth of a cent in trade is taboo. The German paper money is an aristocrat among papers because the Austrian kronen and the Soviet ruble come in millions for a quarter.

The paper mark was returned to this market about July 15, 1919, and offered at $0.0856, the rate of exchange agreed upon a few weeks previously in Berlin by the financial representatives of the American Relief, the German Finance Minister and of the Reichsbank, the bank of note issue, which prints the marks. The price ran down to 5 cents in August, 1 cent about the first of 1920, started in February and rose from $0.01 per mark to $0.0215.

German bonds were being welcomed into the New York market at the same time. Municipal bonds of Hamburg, Berlin and the German Government bonds were the leading issues, the media of heavy investment here. German municipal bonds paying 4 per cent sold at a premium of 25 to 50 per cent.

Bonds Follow the Mark.
The German municipal bonds have declined in value in exactly the same ratio as the depreciation of the German paper mark. This is so dependent as a basis for estimating their present value, the foreign bond department chief of a local house says, that he trusts to it in making instant bids on offers by telephone of bonds of smaller German cities, bonds unfamiliar to his books. He handles a large business in German bonds as any man in America.

ONE REASON PAPER IS DEAR.

Originally, and because of the apparently unlimited extent of the forests, paper mills were located with less reference to the forest than to available waterpower, transportation, and market. Not until the forests were pushed back, until it became necessary to bring wood considerable distances by railway or by water, did the mills begin to consider the importance of their relation to a permanent supply of wood. The construction and operation of a mill involves large capital outlay. It is figured roughly that it costs approximately $50,000 per daily ton of production to construct a modern paper mill. This large investment in plant is making it increasingly necessary to insure for the mill a satisfactory supply of raw material. When pulpwood costs from fourteen to eighteen dollars a cord, it becomes a serious matter for the manufacturer to have to add from four to ten dollars a cord for freight. These very difficult problems making up the question of a permanent supply of raw materials for paper mills are causing many paper manufacturers to turn to the practice of forestry as the only solution of their problem of raw material.

NOT A LITTLE BIT

The poor old modern father has the greatest job in the world to get the better of his far more modern daughter. Whatever the aforesaid poor old-modern father may say or attempt to say, Miss 1922 has an apt and ready reply.

"That young man stays to an unearthly hour every night," said an irate modern father to his youngest daughter one morning. "What does your mother say about it?"

"Well, dad," the modern young woman replied, as she turned to go upstairs, "she says that men haven't changed a bit."

RAYNER GAINS CADETS AT VERNON

Successful Lectures Is Given by Navy League Organizer

The Vernon Court House was crowded on the occasion of the lecture given under the auspices of the Vernon Branch of the Navy League of Canada by Lieut. F. A. Rayner of Victoria.

"The Making of a Mammoth Liner," was the subject of the lecture which was illustrated with lantern slides. The different steps in the building of the Aquitania were shown, the pictures being taken at the Clyde dockyards.

Mr. Rayner, who is field organizer for the British Columbia division of the Navy League, told of the work of the organization and how the citizens of the province were giving it their support.

He referred to the work which the league was doing in building up the Canadian mercantile marine and how that 181 B. C. lads had gone to sea, 63 of whom were officers' apprentices.

Bishop Doull in a few remarks after the lecture, made an appeal for support of the league.

During his stay in Vernon, Lieut. Rayner inspected the schooner at Long Lake owned by the Vernon branch and said that it was the only full rigged boat of its type in British Columbia.

Twenty more boys were enrolled by the local officers as a result of the lecture, and affiliation with the Canadian Cadets will be made shortly. It was announced.

BETTER ELEVATOR FACILITIES URGED

Vancouver Will Place Matter Before Hon. J. A. Robb on Thursday

Vancouver, Oct. 16.—Briefs for the immediate establishment of efficient elevator facilities at Vancouver will be presented to the Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Trade and Commerce on Thursday at a banquet given in his honor, by the Board of Trade.

The inability of the present elevator to deal with the grain situation in this port will be laid before the Minister, who will be asked to make representations to Ottawa to have the necessary facilities installed at once.

The Government elevator here is now working on a twenty-four hour day shift, and will continue to do so as long as there is grain coming in, according to J. E. Bennett, manager of the elevator. Mr. Bennett stated that 25,000 bushels per hour can be handled under the present conditions, providing there are enough boats to take away the grain for shipment abroad.

The Board of Trade is acting in and will leave no stone unturned to achieve this object.

Written briefs are being prepared, and will be handed to the Minister of Trade and Commerce at the banquet with an urgent request that he take up the matter with the Government at Ottawa immediately.

Dispatches received here emanating from the grain commissioners show that they have issued a request to all the railway companies to observe the regulation made last year calling for the cleaning of grain shipped to Vancouver points to be clean and east of the mountains. This has been done, it is stated, with a view to assisting the threatened congestion at the elevator here.

Mr. Bennett said that the cleaning facilities which the grain commissioners had recommended should be placed in the elevator here have not yet been established, but that he hoped they would be in place within a month.

The new schedule will provide for weekly sailings from this port instead of the present ten-day sailings.

A contract has been signed by the Canadian Line with citrus fruit importers in Vancouver, whereby all citrus fruits sent from California to Canada will be shipped on steamers of that company, it was announced.

The Ruth Alexander docked here at 3:40 yesterday and proceeded to Seattle.
